

Chapter 1316

Jennie's tone was harsh, like she was berating her and questioning her, but her dislike stood out the most.

Just like how 30 years ago, she disliked the shabbily-dressed little girl who stood in front of the Shaw family residence like a beggar.

"I was wondering what happened to my uncle, why did he get so angry all of a sudden? As it turned out, even after so many years, you are still lingering around us!"

Gloria did not say anything. "..."

"You... Why are you so shameless! It is true the fish stinks from the head! What's the saying? That children are perfect mirrors of their parents? You and your mother are exactly the same!"

Gloria was dumbfounded at the curses Jennie threw her way. Since she was a young girl, she hardly got into arguments with others; she was used to being honest and straightforward. Thus, when she met Jennie who was used to being superior and demanding, Gloria was defeated demanding, Gloria was defeated mercilessly.

Moreover, her heart began to bleed when she saw how Old Master Shaw still loved his niece deeply, even till this day.

And he claimed that he had been searching for her for 30 years, that he had tried every trick in the book to acknowledge her as his daughter again... They were all lies, right?

For the past two weeks, Gloria had been wondering why the old man never came to secretly watch her again.

The answer was right before her, his true relative, his niece, was back at his side once more. Since he now had his true relative, his illegitimate daughter no longer seemed like family.

She felt so disappointed, so lonely that, for a moment, she forgot her aim in coming here this morning. She reprimanded herself, "Gloria Shaw! No wonder Jennie would call you a b*tch! Why are you still harboring expectations toward this family? They have never acknowledged you as a member of their family, okay!"

"Go away now. Don't embarrass yourself, is the humiliation you suffered here when

"Go away now. Don't embarrass yourself, is the humiliation you suffered here when you were a kid not enough?"

Under the sounds of Jennie's scolding and the old man's furious gaze, Gloria fled helter-skelter.

With a single breath, she ran onto the streets, hailed a taxi, and returned home. Even when she stepped into her home, she felt as if she could still hear the sounds of Jennie's harsh words ringing behind her as she ran away.

"A lowly b*tch will always be a lowly b*tch! A leopard never changes its spots after all! You think just because you're better dressed and look more presentable, that you've now elevated yourself? Look at yourself, how sneaky and suspicious you look, lurking outside my home! The next time I see you wandering about outside my house, I'll order the bodyguards to break your legs! Go away! You stink! Don't pollute my uncle's nose!"

Jennie had a great time cursing her in the streets like that. She must have done it to curry favor with the old man. Every single word rang in Gloria's ears. Then, tears flowed out of her eyes once more.

bulking outside my home! The next time I see you wandering about outside my house, I'll order the bodyguards to break your legs! Go away! You stink! Don't pollute my uncle's nose!"

Jennie had a great time cursing her in the streets like that. She must have done it to curry favor with the old man. Every single word rang in Gloria's ears. Then, tears flowed out of her eyes once more.

She cried for her own incompetence. She went there to fight for her daughter, but now returned in a mess.

How useless was she!

'Why are you still alive, Gloria Shaw?' she thought to herself. 'You have to remove the obstacles denying your daughter her happiness! You have to!'

♥ SPECIAL OFFER : Free 400 Bonus

Click & Buy