

Chapter 1401

Sebastian looked at Aino again. "Aino, didn't you keep asking for Kingston to come in and arrest her?"

"I don't want to talk to a stinky bum!" Aino snapped.

Sebastian did not get angry. He just took out his phone and dialed a number, and the call was answered. Kingston's voice could clearly be heard from the phone. "Master Sebastian..."

"Come in, and bring all the materials," said Sebastian.

"Okay, Master Sebastian!"

Almost in a blink of an eye, Kingston arrived at the dining room. Kingston was unexpectedly not at all surprised when he saw everyone present. Some were stunned, some were calm, some were resolute, and some were looking listless like a criminal. It was as if he knew this was going to be the situation.

Kingston walked up to Sebastian and handed a briefcase to her. "Master Sebastian, it's all in here."

"Okay." Sebastian looked through the things in the briefcase in detail. After he things in the briefcase in detail. After he had gone through it, he passed the briefcase to Sabrina. Sabrina suddenly felt a chill down her spine. Could it be that there was an agreement to dissolve everything with her in the briefcase?

A Marriage Dissolution Agreement.

If she guessed it correctly, it should be the papers to make her leave the marriage without taking any possessions and properties, not even a single penny, right? When she thought about that, she could not help but sneer in her heart. These mighty directors of a big group of companies truly were very meticulous. When the times were good, they would flatter you to the skies and would promise you the stars and moon.

However, what about when the times got bad? Do not even think about taking a single penny away from him. This was how merciless a mighty director was!

Sabrina was not this spineless. She said to Sebastian in a cold and firm manner, "Sebastian Ford! I had made myself clear yesterday night. I won't want a single penny from you. I will leave the marriage without taking any possessions or properties! However, that won't do for my properties! However, that won't do for my daughter. She must get the share that she deserved. Aino had made her stance clear. She would rather not see you for the rest of her life than to get a single penny of your properties. Therefore, Sebastian, it's pointless for you to let me look at this now. I won't look at it! I can't be bothered to look at it! You can take it away!"

"Madam!" Kingston immediately called out, "Madam, you'd better look at the documents inside before you say anything! Madam..."

Sabrina blinked. Kingston had always been very good to her. She hesitated for a moment, then took over the briefcase and opened it. After that, she took out the documents inside and was immediately stunned.

She raised her head and looked at Sebastian. "You..."

Sebastian did not look at Sabrina and just asked Kingston, "Where is the person?"

Kingston smiled. "Right outside."

After saying that, he shouted towards the outside. "Come in."

Someone slowly walked in from outside.

After saying that, he shouted towards the outside. "Come in."

Someone slowly walked in from outside. That man stood at the door. The midday sunshine happened to be shining on him and he just stood there being enveloped by the sunlight, which made him appear to be incomparably healthy.

"Sabrina...," the man called out.

Sabrina was instantly stunned, then her tears gushed out. She was dumbfounded for a long while, and she just could not utter a single word.

Chapter 1402

Aino was the quickest to react when she saw the person who came in from outside. The little girl ran towards the man as she cried. "Uncle, Uncle...Uncle. Uncle!"

She immediately plunged into Zayn's arm. "Uncle, I've missed you to death, Uncle. What have you been up to? I've not seen you for so many years."

In fact, it has only been a year since they last met. However, the little child just felt that it had been an extremely long time.

Zayn squatted and looked at Aino gently. "Look, have I changed?"

Only then Aino remembered. "Uncle, where is your wheelchair?"

"Now, I don't need a wheelchair anymore," said Zayn with a smile. Aino then noticed that her uncle could stand up now. She jumped with joy and turned her head around to look at Sabrina. "Mom, look, my uncle can already stand up! Mom, my uncle has grown taller. Mom, look at how handsome he is!"

Sabrina was covered in tears. "My brother..."

"Sabrina, we've not met for a year. Tell me, have you been well?" Zayn asked with tears have you been well?" Zayn asked with tears in his eyes.

Sabrina vigorously nodded her head. Her tears broke out like beads dropping from a broken necklace. "Zayn, I am well, very well."

She turned her head and glanced at Sebastian. "Sebastian...has been very good to me."

She lowered her eyes and whispered to Sebastian, "Sebastian, I'm...sorry."

She had taken a look at the things inside the briefcase. It was a stack of documents, and they were all related to the Smith Group. It has already been seven years that the Smith Group has been under the control of Zach, and that stack of documents in the briefcase just now was the Equity Transfer Agreement. At this moment, the control of the Smith Group has been returned to Zayn's hands once again. Those agreements were all notarized and stamped, and it also has Zayn's signature.

Sabrina understood it at a glance.

Sebastian and Lori had a meal together to sign an agreement yesterday, and this was the agreement that they had signed. It turned out that her man was doing this so turned out that her man was doing this so that he could give Zayn a generous gift for his return?

She was wrong about her man.

Lori, who was at the side, witnessed all these. She looked at Sebastian in disbelief. "Sebas...you...yesterday... So, your true purpose was not to sign an agreement with me?"

Kingston sneered. "What else do you think? If such an enormous company like the Ford Group wanted to collaborate with the Smith Group, do you think we would need such a woman like you to act as the go-between? You are too stupid! Don't you ever think about it? You had already exposed your natal cleft in broad daylight, and it was so ugly and stinky. Do you think that director can't get any woman anymore and he must have you?"

Lori was speechless. She looked at Sebastian in a daze.

Sebastian's expression was cold and flat. His tone was even colder. "You are the first person who still dared to come to my house as a guest in an imposing manner after you've got someone to frame my wife.

Lori was shaking

as a guest in an imposing manner after you've got someone to frame my wife.

Lori was shaking.

"Take her away. Send her to the police," said Sebastian calmly.

Kingston obeyed. "Yes! Master Sebastian!"

"Tell those interrogators that the two of them had abducted a child from abroad! Let them interrogate them thoroughly!"

"Yes! Master Sebastian," answered Kingston.

Both Lori and her mother were speechless. At this moment, they had truly realized what it meant to have dug their own grave. They had always thought that they were proficient in scheming and had done things seamlessly.

Chapter 1403

Not only did they conceal the truth from Old Master, but they managed to get Sean hooked. Most importantly, they also had Sebastian hooked.

However, it was at this moment that they knew they had long been a clown in Old Master Shaw's hands, let alone a pawn in Sebastian's scheme. Yet, they had no clue about it.

As they were being dragged off, Jennie shouted with her might. "My Sean, save me, save me!"

Sean immediately rushed over and slapped Jennie twice. "You evil-minded old woman! You've almost got me into trouble! Get lost!"

"Kingston! Let the interrogator do a thorough interrogation, even if extreme measures are needed!" Sean ordered Kingston.

Kingston was speechless at first, then after a few seconds, he answered, "Yes! Old Master Shaw!"

Jennie and her daughter were dragged out like two dead dogs. There was a short moment of silence in the dining room.

The first person who broke the silence was moment of silence in the dining room.

The first person who broke the silence was the old madam. She looked at her granddaughter-in-law with a smile. "Sabrina, you have a brother?"

Henry, who was at the side, raised his aged gaze. "Why does he look like the kid from the Smith family who often played with Nigel to me?"

Zayn looked at Henry with a smile. "Grandpa, it's me. Seven years ago, Nigel and I were tight, and I had visited the Ford residence before."

"It's really you?" Henry asked.

Zayn nodded. "Yes, grandpa."

Henry smiled. "Child, you've gotten tanner and more well-built."

"Grandpa, I've already passed thirty years old," Zayn said with a smile.

Gloria asked, "You...you are my daughter's... brother?"

Zayn looked at Gloria. "Ma-Ma'am, I..."

"Mom." Sabrina looked at her mother. "

When times were difficult for me, it's my brother and me who relied on one another to survive. We have always lived together to survive. We have always lived together those few years in Ciarrai county. He is my brother, and he is also Aino's only uncle, the most beloved uncle."

Gloria immediately had tears in her eyes. "Thank you for the care you've given my daughter."

"No problem, Ma'am. Sabrina, Aino and I are families."

At this moment, Marcus called out from behind him. "Zayn."

Zayn turned around and saw Marcus with an overwhelmed expression. Zayn then went forward and hugged Marcus. "Marcus, thank you for the ten million dollars you financed me back then."

Marcus shook his head instead. "I should be the one thanking you for taking care of my cousin all this while, and you've taken such good care of her as well. Thank you, Zayn."

Upon saying that, Marcus looked at Sebastian. "Sebastian, since Zayn's return is such a great occasion, let's go out to celebrate?"

Mainly because it was a pandemonium here, so Marcus also did not wish to stay here, so Marcus also did not wish to stay here.

Hearing Marcus' proposal, the little Aino immediately raised both her arms in agreement. "Great! Let's go celebrate my uncle's return now!"

The little girl had wished to leave here since a long time ago. She just wanted to be together with her uncle now. Sebastian also nodded.

He turned around and greeted everyone else in a hurry. "It's great for you seniors to catch up here. We'll take our leave first."

Once Sebastian and his family of three, as well as Gloria, Marcus, and Zayn left, the large dining room immediately appeared to be incomparably desolate.

The old madam raised her walking stick and pointed at her son, Sean. "It's all your fault! It was a good meal, but you insisted on chasing my granddaughter-in-law away! What exactly has she done to offend you for you to force her back up against her wall like this?"

Sean attempted to explain to his mother. "But what about that man in black who had beaten up Rose several times continuously. How can that be explained?"

away! What exactly has she done to offend you for you to force her back up against her wall like this?"

After a pause, Sean looked at Old Master Shaw. "Uncle Shaw, what exactly is the secret you're hiding from me?"

Old Master Shaw let out a long sigh. After that, he said earnestly, "Sean, at the very least, Grace was also a woman who had given birth to your son. Have you ever visited her grave?"

Chapter 1404

Sean was speechless. It had been seven years since Grace passed away. He indeed had never set foot on her grave. Firstly, it was because Sebastian did not allow him to go. Secondly, if he were to visit Grace's grave, Rose would also be upset.

Sean had only once suggested visiting Grace's grave on the 100th day since she had been buried. However, Rose cried at that time.

"She is already dead and you're still thinking of her. Did you really stop putting up an act and fall in love with her? Although Grace is dead, she has defeated me! The empire that you have and I had built with our all might and main has been inherited by her son! But what about us? One by one, our sons had all departed this life! Now, I am left all alone. Could it be that you still want to not care about me, a living person, and go to visit a dead person? Sean, do you know how great of a sacrifice have I made for you? Back then in Star Island, it was to save your life! Do you know how much I have endured for the sake of saving you?"

have endured for the sake of saving you? Sean Ford! All of my heart is on you! Are you bullying me now for being alone?" Rose had said.

After what she said, Sean then never brought up about visiting Grace's grave again. It had been seven years since then. He has never once visited Grace's grave. Now that Old Master Shaw mentioned this matter, it made Sean's suspicion in his mind grow even greater. He looked at Old Master Shaw in a daze, and just when he was about to ask something, Old Master Shaw said instead, "Since the children are all gone now, I'll leave as well.

"I'm befuddled and can no longer tell apart the right from wrong. I had been making mistakes when I was young, let alone now that I'm older. I thought I was right every single time, but I have actually been wrong. It was a grave mistake to not acknowledge my own child and to bite the hands that fed me. I treated someone else's child as treasure, but I let my own child live in poverty for her whole life. In the end, someone else's her whole life. In the end, someone else's child walked all over me. This is something only a confused person such as myself can do. However, I thought I was upright and honorable. Therefore...from now on, I will never intervene with the matters of the young people anymore. I am a sinner myself..."

The elderly man walked further and further away. He began to hobble even more as walked. The four bodyguards who had always followed him by his side quickly supported him. They then walked out of the old Ford residence and got into the car.

Old Master Shaw started crying.

"Master." The bodyguard could not help but to feel bad for him.

Old Master Shaw asked, "Do you think Gloria would acknowledge me in my lifetime?"

All the bodyguards collectively remained silent. Old Master Shaw sighed. "I don't need you to tell me, and I know that it would be very hard for Gloria to forgive m would be very hard for Gloria to forgive me. Because we only live once, and it was during childhood that we needed our dads the most. However, during her childhood, not only did she not get her father's love, but her father had oppressed and humiliated her. All I can do now is to take another look at her, just another look. Let's go..."

The bodyguard immediately answered, "Yes, Masters. Sit tight."

"Oh right, the police..." Old Master Shaw remembered.

The bodyguard then answered, "Master Sebastian had given orders from this end, I think no one would dare to..."

"Make another call to them," Old Master Shaw said,

The bodyguards obeyed. "Yes!"

He made a call over and on the other end of the line. The interrogation of Jennie and Lori had already begun.

“Make another call to them,” Old Master Shaw said,

The bodyguards obeyed. “Yes!”

He made a call over and on the other end of the line. The interrogation of Jennie and Lori had already begun.

Jennie had never encountered such hardships, let alone being treated this way. Her hand was cuffed to the chair, she could not move at all and the harsh bright light was shining on her. Jennie was frantic. “I...I am the niece of Old Master Shaw, and he is my uncle. My cousin is Oliver Shaw. My nephew is Marcus Shaw. I...”

Chapter 1405

"I'm sorry, but it was precisely the Shaw family who sent you here. Just a moment ago, the Shaw family had just made a call to us asking to interrogate you and your daughter severely!"

"No...my uncle won't be this heartless to me. He had always loved me very much. He must have..." Jennie trailed off.

Not only did Jennie mutter to herself, but she also said to the police, "I'm begging you, please call my uncle, alright? He loves me very much. He had always loved me since young. He would be idle and watch me..."

The police was irritated by Jennie so much that he was amused. "Old Master Shaw loved you so much like his own daughter since you were young, but you exhausted the ways to harm his own daughter?"

"I have never met such an ungrateful wretch like you in this world! You have harmed her daughter this way, he already could not hate you enough, why would he could not hate you enough, why would he come and save you?"

"But he had always loved me."

The police laughed. "No matter how much he loved you, would you have the kind of affection he has for his own flesh and blood? It was you who couldn't recognize the truth."

Jennie asked, "Can you...call my cousin? I ...don't have any other intentions. I just wanted my cousin to send some change of clothes for me, can I?"

The police sighed. The change of clothes had to be sent, so they called Marcus' father, Oliver.

At this moment, Oliver was the only one at the Shaw's. After he received the call, he was shocked, and then he immediately called his son.

His son was at Nigel's office at the Conor Group. Once he answered his father's call, Marcus said, "Dad, I know Aunt Jennie is your cousin whom you've grown up with, and she was like your own sister.

However, she is not your sister, after all.

However, she is not your sister, after all. Not only that, but she also harmed your actual sister.”

Oliver said, “I know. I know, Marcus. Are there really no chances of saving her anymore?”

Marcus merely said, “Dad, I’m outside. We’ll talk again when I get back.”

He had no time to talk about Jennie’s matter with his dad, so he hurriedly hung up the phone. Then, he looked at Nigel. “Nigel, it’s so rare for me to see you like this. You are actually handling official business, and you’re even treating them so seriously.”

Nigel smiled calmly. “Marcus, I’m already thirty-two years old this year. If I don’t get down to business now, then there’s no one else to blame but myself.”

After a pause, he sighed. “To think about those years before I was twenty-five, I have truly wasted them! I have even messed up quite a few women!”

Marcus smiled. “Nigel, it’s the best thing if you admit your mistakes and make f you admit your mistakes and make amends. Let's go, I'll take you to meet a person today."

Nigel was curious. "To where?"

"Clubhouse, private room," said Marcus.

"I won't go. All those young models are about eighteen years old. Why should we cause them harm by getting involved with them?" Nigel looked inconceivably at Marcus.

"Say, Marcus, you are now..."

Marcus sneered. "Yes, I am now the same as you were before! However, the person I'm taking you to meet today is an old friend. Do you want to meet this person?"

Nigel was stunned. His old friend? It could not be Mindy, right? If I were Mindy, if Mindy truly was reduced to doing that kind of thing in the clubhouse, then Nigel really had to talk to her. After all, she was once his fiancée.

Nigel went to the clubhouse with Marcus after he tidied up the company's matters. Before he entered the door, he could hear Mindy, if Mindy truly was reduced to doing that kind of thing in the clubhouse, then Nigel really had to talk to her. After all, she was once his fiancée.

Nigel went to the clubhouse with Marcus after he tidied up the company's matters. Before he entered the door, he could hear a child's laughter inside the private room.

"Aino and Sabrina? You brought me here to meet them?" asked Nigel.

Marcus shrugged. "Go in and have a look."

As he said that, the door was pushed open. Nigel saw the person standing at the door. He was stunned for a long while and could not make a sound. "Za...Zayn?"

Chapter 1406

Zayn was incomparably emotional. "Nigel ...it's been such a long time. You've changed so much."

Three months ago, Nigel had spoken with Zayn on the phone in close proximity, but he did not see him. This was the first time both Zayn and Nigel met each other in the past seven years.

"Do you blame me?" Zayn asked Nigel.

Nigel frowned at him. "What for?"

Zayn glanced over at Sabrina, Aino, and Sebastian, who were sitting together on the couch. Sabrina had a gentle expression. Aino, on the other hand, was watching the three men standing by the door with her little eyes. She knew all three of them. They seemed to be quite close to her mother. Besides, only her mother and herself were ladies in this private room.

They were her beloved uncle, her father's cousin, one of them that seemed like her mother's fan, as well as her dad....

Oh! Aino sneakily glanced at her dad. Her dad looked quite calm. Aino then looked at the two men who were conversing by the door. She was certain that her Uncle Zayn had never met Uncle Nigel. Her Uncle Zayn has been with her since the day she was born and he had never met Uncle Nigel. How was it that the both of them seemed to be old acquaintances now? Aino was very curious, so she kept staring at the two of them.

Nigel hugged Zayn very tightly. "Zayn, if I had to name a friend that I missed the most in my life, then it would be you. However, I still think it can't possibly be you when Marcus told me because your legs..."

"My legs have completely recovered now," said Zayn with a smile.

"Good, great!" Nigel looked excitedly at Zayn. "Zayn, do you know? I envied and admired you the most for rescuing Sabrina away and taking her to wander the world. You have taken such good care of Aino in those six years, so who am I to blame you? It was you and Sabrina who changed my heart and let me be reborn blame you? It was you and Sabrina who changed my heart and let me be reborn once again. I will be grateful to you both in this life of mine."

After saying that, Nigel took a look at Sabrina, and then smiled. "However, Zayn, I still envy you very much. Mm-hmm...a mix of envy, jealousy and hate. At best, I am just a friend to Sabrina, but you're different. Your place in Sabrina's heart is only second to Aino and my cousin.

"I'm guessing..." Nigel glanced at Marcus. "I'm guessing that even Marcus can't compete with you."

"I really envy you very much," said Nigel.

Zayn raised his hand and punched Nigel playfully. "You're already a person who is in charge of a company, and yet, you're still so sentimental? No matter if it's you, me or Marcus, don't we all wish that Sabrina's sufferings can come to an end and have a good life?"

Nigel nodded. "You're right."

The three men then looked at Sabrina at

The three men then looked at Sabrina at the same time and met Aino's eyes. The little child looked at the three uncles by the door, and then suddenly felt emotional.

"My dad is quite pitiful."

Sabrina looked at her. "What are you saying, Aino?"

Aino leaned her small body on her father.

"Dad, I'm sorry..."

Sebastian asked his own daughter, "What are you sorry for?"

"Dad, I originally thought that all of you were bullying my mom at Grandpa's today. Especially you, who said you're friends with Jennifer's mother. I hated you to my bones at that time, stinky Dad! However...I realized I was wrong about you, stinky Dad! You were pretending to be friends with Jennifer's mother for the sake of getting my uncle's family properties back. Also, you did not have any girlfriend at all, and you didn't betray my mother. But, look, my mother..."

The little girl unexpectedly started you, stinky Dad! You were pretending to be friends with Jennifer's mother for the sake of getting my uncle's family properties back. Also, you did not have any girlfriend at all, and you didn't betray my mother. But, look, my mother..."

The little girl unexpectedly started bragging. "Not only did my mom marry you, a big handsome man, but she also has three handsome protectors at the door. That means my mom has four protectors by her side. That's four people."

The more the little girl talked, the happier she was. She had already forgotten that she was originally sympathetic to her dad, but she unknowingly became envious of her mom at this point. "I feel my mom is like a queen. Is this the queen and the four men around her? They are all handsome. All four of them are handsome!"

Chapter 1407

If Kingston was around, he would definitely think of ways to give a reminder to the little princess.

“Little princess! If you continue with what you said, you’ll make your dad cry, alright! Do you think your dad is not miserable enough? Is there actually such a little girl like you who rubs salt in your father’s wound?”

However, Kingston was not around at the moment, so no one reminded Aino. Sabrina only grumbled and glared at Aino. “Aino! You talk too much!”

Aino asked, “Did I say anything wrong, Mom? Aren’t these four handsome men all here for you today? Just take my Uncle Marcus for example. He usually doesn’t have much interaction with my dad, alright? There’s also Uncle Nigel. He would be as terrified as a mouse seeing a cat whenever he meets my dad. Also, Uncle Zayn doesn’t even know my dad. However, they are all very close to you, Mom.”

Mom.”

Sabrina was speechless. She secretly glanced at her own man. Sebastian was expressionless and it seemed like nothing had changed on his face. He did not even take another look at Sabrina. He just looked calmly at the three men at the door.

Actually, the man was feeling very suffocated. What is this! Everyone called him the living Hades of South City. Everyone knew it was very decisive and had never been soft-hearted.

However, who would have known that he was very much soft-hearted now? When treating his group of love rivals, he surprisingly could not lay his hand on any one of them. Not only that, but he even personally took back the business that his love rival had once lost and returned it to him, the rightful owner. Who else can be such a husband like him in this world? However, his woman still wanted to divorce him! To whom can he vent his grievances?

Zayn had walked up to Sebastian. “

Zayn had walked up to Sebastian. "Sebastian, thank you. Thank you for saving and treating my legs. Thank you for taking back all the assets of my Smith Group. Thank you. From now on, I will use my life to guard your family of three. I will take out twenty percent of the Smith Group's shares and give them to the Ford Group. I think under the leadership of the Ford Group, the Smith Group would definitely be better.

"What do you think, Sebastian?" Zayn asked respectfully.

"My brother..., " Sabrina called out, "that is your property, the Ford Group wouldn't want it."

Aino nodded. "Mm-hmm. Uncle, my dad is very rich. He wouldn't want your money. You just save it for your own future wedding."

Sebastian was speechless. He truly wanted to snap Zayn's legs and make him unable to walk again. However, he forcibly held himself back. He got up and looked at Zayn calmly. "Zayn, the Ford Group would not want twenty percent of Group would not want twenty percent of your shares. You can save the shares for Aino since she is so close with you.”

He had put in so much effort, he had to fight for something for his daughter, right? That was exactly what Sebastian had in his mind!

“Of course, Sebastian,” Zayn said sincerely.

“Good!” Sebastian raised his eyebrows. “You three unmarried youngsters can enjoy your nightlife. I’m a married man, who already has a family, so I should go home already. I had already reserved the whole place today, so enjoy as much as you want to.”

Zayn, Nigel, and Marcus were all speechless. “You’re not...not saying for a while more?”

Sebastian replied, “No.”

He looked at Aino and Sabrina gently. “Let’s go home?”

Sabrina nodded. “Mm-hmm.”

Sebastian replied, "No."

He looked at Aino and Sabrina gently. "Let's go home?"

Sabrina nodded. "Mm-hmm."

Under the watchful eyes of the three men, Sabrina, Aino, and Sebastian left the private room.

After they had gotten in the car, Sabrina bit her lips and said to Sebastian, "Sebastian, I'm...sorry."

Chapter 1408

“Mm-hmm! The word sorry is worth millions coming from you!” Sebastian said.

The driver who was driving could not stifle his laugh and instantly burst out laughing.

Kingston could tell how much heartbreak, helplessness and grievances his master's words had carried. Even Aino, who was sitting in between her parents, also could not help but feel sorry for her father for a long while.

“Dad...” Aino raised her head and looked at her dad.

“Yes!” Sebastian answered.

“I shouldn't have called you Stinky Bum Dad,” Aino apologized sincerely.

The man sneered. “You are quite honest.”

He finally could tell that although the little child usually seemed to be very close to him, could not be apart with him for a day, and she would even be thinking of him in her dreams. She would still be day, and she was still thinking of him in her dreams. She would still be closer to her mother at crucial moments. She simply was her mother's best supporter!

Aino laughed. She turned her head around and looked at Sabrina. "Mom, you also have to be honest."

Sabrina lowered her head and glanced at Sebastian with some embarrassment. Sebastian did not look at her, but only looked ahead. Sabrina followed Sebastian's gaze and looked ahead, only then she recalled that Kingston was still in the front seat of the car.

Although Kingston had been good to Sabrina, at this moment, Sabrina had to be on the same side with her husband as well. If there were anything to talk about, they would wait till they had arrived home. They should not be talking about it in the car to avoid making a fool of themselves in front of Kingston.

Sabrina instantly shut her mouth. The little child, who was sitting in the middle, looked at her dad for a moment, then she looked at her mom next. Seeing that her looked at her [redacted] ment, then she looked at her mom next. Seeing that her parents did not speak, the little child also very intelligently stopped talking immediately.

Kingston, who was driving, was speechless. He desperately wanted to watch how the scene unfold. How unfortunate! He had no choice but to concentrate on driving. He drove very steadily and they arrived home after a forty minutes journey. When they entered the house, Aunt Lewis was just about to serve the dishes for dinner.

“Sir and Madam, you’re finally back. Are you tired from a whole day of outing? Aino, quickly, drink some iced lemonade, don’t get dehydrated.” Aunt Lewis handed a glass to Aino. After that, she then got busy plating the dishes in the dining room.

Aunt Lewis, who was very busy, had not noticed the three members of this family had any sort of conflict today. As usual, she served a bowl of soup for Aino, filled a plate of pasta for Sebastian, and served a plate of salad for Sabrina. After the family of three were done with her dinner, Aunt plate of salad for [redacted] After the family of three were done with her dinner, Aunt Lewis did the dishes and tidied up the living room, and then went back to her place to rest. Therefore, only Sabrina, Aino, and Sebastian were left in the large space.

Aino poked Sabrina with her little fingertip. "Mom, do you need my help to apologize to Dad?"

Sabrina rolled her eyes at Aino in annoyance. "Little child! Go sleep!"

Aino nodded. "I know, Mom."

The little child was very observant. She was very good this night. She did not let her mom spend too much time putting her to bed before she fell asleep. After Sabrina came out of Aino's nursery, Sabrina carefully entered the large bedroom. However, the bedroom was empty. Sebastian was not there. Sabrina had even gone to check the bathroom. She thought to herself, if she was in the bathroom then she would enter and personally bath him and scrub his back. It would also be fine even if it was just washing his feet. He and scrub his feet. It would also be fine even if it was just washing his feet. He used to wash her feet in the past anyway, but she had never washed his feet before. However, Sabrina noticed when she came to the bathroom that there was no one in there.

Where was he? Surely, he would not just run away from home in a fit of anger because he was still mad at her, right?

Just as she was thinking about this, Sabrina heard a man's whisper in the house.

Chapter 1409

The man's voice was coming through the door, so it felt like the volume was fluctuating. Sabrina followed the voice and came to the man's study. Only then could she hear it increasingly clearer.

It turned out that Sebastian was on a call in his study. Sabrina did not know who could she hear ... clearer.

It turned out that Sebastian was on a call in his study. Sabrina did not know who Sebastian had called. She just listened to the fragmented conversation.

“Well, okay. I know.

“If the share is not enough, we can negotiate again on Monday. Hmm? You bought it for her? She is not short of any gifts. Okay, then come over tomorrow. Oh right, regarding your cousin, you have to be careful. He would not just give it up like this. However, you don't have to be afraid of him either. Everything would be explained by the Ford Group. You just need to do your part. After all, he is your cousin...”

There was a pause.

“Alright, if you think it's appropriate to bring your parents for, then just bring them over. If there isn't anything else, I'll hang up first.”

Sebastian's tone sounded like it was dull and flat, but he was already trying to be patient.

patient.

Although Sabrina could only hear Sebastian's answer over at this end, and she could not hear who exactly was on the other end of the line, Sabrina wondered if the call was made by Sebastian to Zayn. Perhaps it could have been Zayn who was the one who called Sebastian.

No matter which party initiated the call, Sabrina thought to herself that this was the matter between two men, and they were both her closest family, so it was unnecessary for her to participate in the business between the two men.

She just sat outside.

It was not until Sabrina had confirmed that the call was over, that she walked slowly into the room while carrying a glass of lemonade. She placed the glass of lemonade in front of Sebastian.

She stood in front of Sebastian with her gaze lowered and both her hands held together in front of her as if she was a child who had made a mistake.

"I'm sorry, Sebastian. I was...I was wrong child who had ... e.

“I’m sorry, Sebastian. I was...I was wrong about you. You...”

Just as Sabrina wanted to ask Sebastian if he could forgive her, she unintentionally saw the shirt of her man, who had already taken off his suit jacket and was only wearing the shirt, was covered with bloodstains. All the bloodstains were on the chest area of the shirt.

“Sebastian, you-your shirt, what happened? Why would there be bloodstains?” Sabrina immediately asked in surprise.

The man rolled his eyes annoyingly at Sabrina. “It’s your masterpiece! Have you already forgotten?”

Sabrina was speechless. Her masterpiece? What masterpiece of hers? She sincerely did not know.

“Why...would your shirt have so much blood? What happened...to you?”

She wanted to rip off Sebastian’s shirt to look at the injuries. Once she exerted force, the button on Sebastian’s collar was look at the injury. The force exerted force, the button on Sebastian's collar was ripped off. Only then did she see that the man's chest was covered in half scabbed bloodied scars everywhere. They were all over his chest. Sabrina was very shocked when she saw it.

"Sebastian, what...happened to you? There are so many scratches on your chest. What...happened?" Sabrina instantly broke out in tears, heartbroken. She raised both her hands and wanted to touch those superficial wounds of his, but she did not dare to. She was afraid that she would hurt him by touching it. However, she wanted to touch it and wanted to console him.

Sebastian looked at her, annoyed. "What's wrong? This was scratched by a cat! An unreasonable wild cat!"

Sabrina looked at Sebastian as she cried. "I'm...sorry."

She wanted to touch Sebastian's face with both her hands as a sign of apology. However, Sebastian suddenly got up, removed her hand, and then walked both her hands...ology.

However, Sebastian suddenly got up, removed her hand, and then walked straight towards the bedroom.

“What do you...want to do?” asked Sabrina as she shuddered.

The man sneered. “Don't you deserve to be punished?”

Chapter 1410

Sabrina stammered. “But-but I-I’ve already apologized to you.” Her heart was pounding hard. She had nowhere to put her hands. She wanted to put them on the man’s chest and grab his buttons, but when she saw the scratches on his chest, she did not dare to do it. With nowhere to place them, she could only hold up both her hands. Her little face was even more at loss.

Without even blinking, Sebastian gazed at her with his deep-set eyes at the woman i

Without even thinking, Sebastian gazed at her with his deep-set eyes at the woman in his arms. Once he thought of her reaction yesterday, he truly wanted to eat her up. From his first time with her in the pitch-black night to the first time he picked her up outside the prison and until now, it has already been seven and a half years. Within the seven and a half years, she had presented herself with calmness for the majority of the time in front of him. She would either carefully wrap herself up and be as sensitive as if she was a hedgehog, or she would smile so sweetly that his brain would be jammed to seek a sense of warmth. She would still curl back into her shell when the warmth was gone.

However, it was his first time to have experienced her reaction last night. Her unyielding, sharp, and crazy reaction was simply like a little she-wolf. If he was a prey, he would have been bitten to death by her. He thought about how she had even hurled swear words at him when she was most hysterical and furious. She kept chasing him out and asking him to get lost. Where else in the entire South City could he find another woman who could b lost. Where else could he find another woman who could be this mighty towards him? If cutting his necktie at the company that day was her feat, then what about yesterday? At this moment, cutting his necktie at the company seemed more like an act of kindness as compared to her reaction yesterday.

Look at how jealous she got yesterday. It was enough to turn the entire South City upside down. A woman who could scratch up Sebastian's chest till it was covered in bloodstains, let alone South City, could he find another one in this world? She actually wanted to settle it with just a light apology?

"Where was that vigor of yours yesterday?" asked Sebastian calmly.

Sabrina blinked. "Wha-what?"

"Where is that vigor to chase me away, scold me, beat me up, mess with me, kick and punch me, and that vigor that would let you stab your man to death if you had been given a knife that you had yesterday?" Sebastian questioned her while looking at her with a cold expression.

Sabrina was speechless. She did not blame him for being this angry. Sabrina knew that she truly had been crazy last night.
What did she curse? It seemed that she had involuntarily blurted out all sorts of swear words, right?

At this moment, she truly had nothing to say. Seeing that she did not say anything, Sebastian carried her to the bed. How has Sabrina ever seen such a mighty stance?
She instantly cried in fear.

"I...I was wrong. Hubby, I was wrong..."
Her sobs truly melted the man's heart.
Sebastian's movements instantly slowed down. However, his gaze deepened and he loosened his grasp.

"The places where I scratched, does it still hurt?"

Sebastian asked. "What do you think?"

"What should we do? Is it alright for you to take a rest tonight? Just take it as healing the injuries?"

Sebastian asked, "Do you think?"

"What should we do? Is it alright for you to take a rest tonight? Just take it as healing the injuries?"

Sebastian sneered. "What's this small injury to me? You can still scratch even more on my back. However, I will not spare you from the punishment you deserved!"

Upon saying that, his head then swooped down on her with great speed. She truly could not figure out why the man has so much energy and strength.

In the end, Sabrina did not even know how she fell asleep. She was so exhausted that she did not even want to lift her head up anymore.

However, she vaguely remembered Sebastian asking her over and over again, "Do you still dare to divorce me?"

She then begged for mercy. "I don't dare to anymore..."

Chapter 1411

However, now that she thought about it, she truly was incomparably crazy yesterday. She had not even clarified the matter and she just came home to mess with him like that. No matter how called out to her and messed with her, she just looked away. Anyway, unlike her, he could never bear to scratch and injure her.

She slept very soundly. She had no idea what time Sebastian got up and left the house along with Aino. That sleep was very good. No one came to disturb her at breakfast.

When Sebastian took Aino out in the morning, he told Aunt Lewis before he left the house, "Let Sabrina sleep in. She did not sleep well last night and is sleep-deprived. It's not too late for her to have breakfast after she wakes up by herself."

Therefore, Aunt Lewis had not woken Sabrina up. Sabrina was woken up by a phone call. She took it over and took a look. It was her man calling. She then scrunched up her nose and answered the call with a lazy and nasal tone. "Sebastian..."

"You're still not up?" Sebastian scolded.

"What time is it?" she asked.

"What time is it?" she asked.

"It's half past one in the afternoon!" said Sebastian. Sabrina sighed. Her mind was dazed for a few minutes, and then she quickly threw her phone away, got out of bed to get dressed and washed up. Slowly, her mind has woken up.

She immediately gave Sebastian a call again. "Sebastian, are you...at home?"

Sebastian only scoffed.

"Where are you?" she asked again.

Sebastian said with annoyance, "I'm with your daughter and we're at her uncle's company!"

'Aino's uncle's company?' Sabrina thought about it for a long while, then she suddenly thought of Zayn.

Sabrina immediately smiled. "Wait for me there. I will drive there in a moment."

After she ate her lunch, Sabrina drove with high spirits to the Smith Group. It was the weekend today, so the majority of the employees in the company were not around. Ten upper management executives were sitting in the large conference room. Under Sebastian's supervision, they respectfully reported their work to Zayn respectfully reported their work to Zayn. When Sabrina arrived, they were still in a meeting.

Sabrina took a peek inside through the transparent glass and found that Aino was actually in there as well. She was sitting next to her uncle and was surprisingly sitting in a serious and upright position.

Sabrina laughed at what she saw. She did not disturb their meeting. Instead, she went to Zayn's office while being led by the secretary. This used to be Zach's office, and it has changed overnight. However, there was nothing to be sorry about.

Because six years ago, Zach had also used illegitimate methods to seize this property that belonged to Zayn's parents. Sitting in Zayn's office, Sabrina suddenly was overwhelmed with emotions. The whole night and day yesterday were as if she had had a dream. At this moment, she had woken up from the dream and had returned to reality once again. She and Sebastian were still as loving as ever. Also, her brother, whom she had been separated from for more than a year, had returned, and his legs had recovered. He had returned to his family business.

brother, whom she had been separated from for more than a year, had returned, and his legs had recovered. He had returned to his family business.

When Sabrina sat on the leather executive office chair and thought about all this with her eyes closed, she could not help but smile. She had thought of the crazy tantrum that she threw at her husband last night and the night before. She truly was a shrew.

Just as she was blushing with embarrassment, she was startled by a voice.

"Is Sabrina Scott here! I have to tear her apart today!" A sharp and irritating female voice rang out.

Chapter 1412

Sabrina was so shocked that she almost fell off the leather executive office chair.

This was the Smith Group and this was Zayn's office. Zayn had only owned this office for just one day. Who was it who actually came yelling her name here?

At this moment, Sabrina heard another female voice. "Mrs Smith, please don't put us in a difficult position. We are just mere employees. This company had already changed hands. Please leave immediately. Otherwise, I'll call the police."

"Ha! Call the police! Call them! I'm already unafraid of death and I'm already almost homeless, so what else can I be afraid of? Call them then! I simply must let Sabrina come out now! I just want to see how the hell does she kick up a storm!" That female voice was still incomparably sharp.

"I know Sabrina is in there! Ask her to come now!" It was another female voice again. This voice was rather familiar to Sabrina's ears. After carefully distinguishing it, Sabrina instantly recalled that this was the voice of Emma Poole, who had not shown up for a very long time.

"Miss, don't go in! If you take another step forward, I'll call security!"

"Do it then! I'll see how you can call the security. I know every single security here. This company is mine. I'll see how you can call for them!" This was an incomparably agitated male voice.

Before walking out of Zayn's office, Sabrina could tell from what she heard that there were three people who came to pick a fight. She could also guess who these three people were. If she guessed it right, the three people should be Zach, his wife, Autumn, as well as Autumn's sister, Emma.

Sabrina walked slowly out of the office, and as expected, she saw three people making threatening gestures outside. There were two women and a man.

"Sabrina Scott! You are really here!" The first to speak was Zach's wife, Autumn.

This woman! Six months ago, at that banquet with ulterior motives prepared by Emma for Sabrina, Autumn was not this manic yet. However, this time, Autumn was completely like a shrew and was reckless.

"Sabrina Scott! If it weren't for you, our Smith Group wouldn't collapse in just one day! You d*mned woman! You and Zayn day! You d*mned woman! You and Zayn have an ambiguous relationship, and you dared to walk all over us, the Smith family! Sabrina, watch me skin you alive today!" Autumn came forward and wanted to beat Sabrina up as she spoke.

However, her hand was grabbed by someone from behind.

"Zayn!"

Zach shouted, "She is your sister-in-law!"

Zayn grabbed Autumn's wrist with one hand, and then looked at Zach with a sharp gaze. "Oh! My cousin. You're here as well!"

"Let go of my wife!" Zach ordered.

"Zayn! You ignorant and incompetent womanizer! Let go of me! Never mind that you colluded with outsiders and annexed our Smith Group, but you still want to beat up your sister-in-law in public!" Autumn scolded Zayn angrily.

Zayn's grip got even tighter, and he made Autumn wail in pain.

Zayn sneered. "Autumn, it's best for you to behave yourself. I had been paralyzed for six years. Do you know who did I get by in those six years? Our lives in Ciarrai County were difficult, and we had to go out to work, behave yourself. I had been paralyzed for six years. Do you know who did I get by in those six years? Our lives in Ciarrai County were difficult, and we had to go out to work, only then could we have enough to eat.

Sabrina had to work at the construction site and still had to raise a child. I also had to do odd jobs for others every day. I had no strength in my legs, so I had to carry things with my hands and shoulders. Therefore, after so many years, the strength of my hand is enough to crush a brick!

"Autumn, if you still spew these foul languages from your mouth, I will crush your wrist into pieces!"

Autumn was speechless. She immediately did not dare to make another sound.

Chapter 1413

Only then did Zayn let go of Autumn.

Autumn immediately ran in front of Zach. At this moment, Emma also supported her own sister, and the three of them glared intently at Zayn and Sabrina.

"You two are quite bold. You actually dared to meet in private at the Smith Group?"

Emma sneered.

Sabrina looked at Emma coldly. "This is now my brother's territory. Are you coming here to create trouble?"

Emma sneered. "Ha! Sabrina! You can't force people into having their backs up against the wall, right? You have now cornered my sister and brother-in-law into being homeless! Would we be afraid of creating trouble?"

Sabrina asked, "What do you mean by homeless?"

"Did I search your house and confiscate your possessions? Or did I annex all of your private properties?"

Emma was speechless.

At this moment, Zach said sternly, "You didn't annex our private properties, but you didn't annex our private properties, but you stole my Smith Group! My Smith Group changed hands overnight, and it became your old lover's."

"Zach! Watch your words!" Zayn scolded.

"Zayn, then take a look at yourself! You're a man who got to where you are now by relying on a woman for financial support. Never mind if you have an ambiguous relationship with Sabrina, but you actually dare to come at me, your own cousin! You actually dared to steal from your own family! Have you no shame?"

"He didn't steal the Smith Group away, the person who stole it was me." A voice came from behind them.

Zach abruptly turned around when he heard the voice, and he saw Sebastian with a calm expression and holding a little girl's hand.

Zach stuttered, "Di-Director Ford, Master Ford, you-you're here?"

Zach, Autumn, and Emma, saw Sabrina entering the Smith Group when they were originally wandering around nearby the company. At that time, Zach was so infuriated that he cursed, "This Sabrina actually dared to rendezvous with Zayn so infuriated that he cursed, "This Sabrina actually dared to rendezvous with Zayn so audaciously at the Smith Group! Watch me as I catch them red-handed today!"

He could also vent his anger this way! Perhaps he could take back the Smith Group again if he were to catch and bring them to Sebastian.

Zach thought that Sebastian never would have expected that he would just help Zayn to take back the Smith Group, and Sabrina would be having a private meeting with Zayn here, right? If Sebastian were to find out, he would have turned Sabrina and Zayn up into minced meat. However, what Zach did not expect was that Sebastian was actually here as well.

"Zach, there are two things that I must clarify with you," Sebastian said coldly.

"Master...Master Sebastian, please go ahead."

"First, your Smith Group originally belonged to Zayn seven years ago. The Smith Group has no relations with you at all. You annexed the entire group of companies once you came back from abroad. How is that different from stealing? I am just returning things to the rightful owner now."

Zach was speechless.

Sebastian continued, "Secondly, the person who changed the ownership of your company overnight was not Zayn, let alone my wife. It was me. It was me who manipulated Lori to get your company's stamp, your signature, and your fingerprint. I've done all these, and do you know what it was for?"

Zach was speechless. He raised his gaze and looked at Sebastian while trembling. He seemed to have figured something out, but he did not dare to say it. At this moment, Autumn, who was leaning against Zach by his side, could also feel that her husband had already been trembling in fear.

She trembled.

Sebastian sneered. "I didn't go looking for you, and you actually served yourself on a platter, sending yourself to your grave."

Chapter 1414

When they heard Sebastian say that, Zach and Autumn were so frightened that they almost collapsed on the ground. In the end, it was Emma who was a bit feistier. After all, she also boasted that she was Sebastian's past lover. At this moment, Emma boldly questioned, "Sebastian Ford! You annexed my sister and my brother-in-law's Smith Group, and you still think you're being reasonable? You even say that they are here sending themselves to their grave? Sebastian Ford! Do you think the Poole family from Kidon City is easy to mess with? You actually dare to bully my sister and her husband like this?"

Sebastian could not be bothered to take a look at such a crazy woman like Emma.

"Do you know Steve Gibson?" Sebastian asked Zach.

Zach said, "Master-Master Ford, that...has nothing to do with me, no..."

Sebastian's tone became even colder. "Lori has the whole video of Steve harassing my wife at the Grand Sage International Hotel that she has taken herself."

Zach immediately knelt and explained, "

Master-Master Ford, Steve... He is a client

Zach immediately knelt and explained, "Mas-Master Ford, Steve...He...he is a client of mine. He has taken a fancy of Lori very much since the first time he laid eyes on her. It was Lori who used him..."

Sebastian kicked Zach away. Immediately after that, he said incomparably calmly, "Steve Gibson was originally a thug at Rock County. The reason why you, the Poole family, had chosen him was that he had not a care in this world and could give up his life. He could one day be the reckless soldier to your Poole family who was not afraid of death. Therefore, you have been keeping him. In the end, Lori had returned from abroad, and he came in handy! Steve's persona as a simp and the twenty million in his hands were all given to him by you, right? Your goal was simply to let Steve and Lori join forces and kick up a storm in both Kidon City and South City, right?"

Zach was speechless. He truly had this intention because he hated Sabrina. Not only was it because Sabrina had given him a warning just as she returned from Ciarrai County, but also because his wife's family hated Sabrina so much that they wished they could skin her alive. Therefore, when the Poole family told Zach this plan, he agreed without any hesitation.

agreed without any hesitation.

Zach had originally thought that there was no harm for him in this. This way, he could have one more friend, which was Lori, a top economics student who had returned from abroad, and he would also make Lori work for himself. Maybe he could even officially collaborate with the Ford Group in the future.

The most important thing was that Sabrina could be eliminated this way.

After Zach and the Poole family was done devising the plan, everyone felt that it was perfectly seamless. Especially that simp, he truly became a simp to Lori. It truly was because Lori was too beautiful and she had just returned from abroad. On top of that, Lori's mother, Jennie, was a born seductress. Therefore, she had also taught Lori to become seductive.

That night Lori had gone to Rock County to stay with Steve, she had indeed served him very well. Steve was sincerely willing and would not even hesitate to risk his life for Lori. Therefore, the effect of the scene at Grand Sage International Hotel taped by Lori could be so realistic.

However, no one had expected that a man in black would appear at the hotel. That man in black actually beat up Steve to the extent that he had to be hospitalized! Steve truly was a useless person. He appeared to be such a tall and well-built man, but he actually could not even take a beating!

"Kingston!" Sebastian suddenly gave the order to Kingston, who was standing in a hidden corner.

Kingston immediately came out. "Master Sebastian!"

"Bring Steve in!"

"Yes, Master Sebastian!"

Zach said, "You...you actually captured Steve and brought him here, and you were just waiting...waiting for us to appear?"

Sebastian did not even glance at Zach. "Zach, I had just annexed your company, so how could you admit defeat? You certainly would be hanging around here."

Zach was speechless.

Chapter 1415

Zach knew no matter what, he could not win against Sebastian. Even if Sebastian did not use his armed forces, Zach still had no way to compete against Sebastian. This was because Sebastian was craftier and was more meticulous at planning than he was.

Kingston had grabbed Steve by the back collar and brought him straight here. Steve had been beaten up quite badly by Holden. It had already been two days, but his face was still covered in bruises at this moment.

When he saw Sabrina, Kingston had an overwhelming expression on his face.

"You had a lot of guts," Sebastian said calmly.

"You are..." Steve looked at Sebastian with puzzlement.

"How rude! This is Master Sebastian from South City. How could you speak so disrespectfully?" Zach immediately scolded as he was fearful that Steve would get him into trouble.

Steve said, "Hello, Master Sebastian, you..."

He glanced at Sabrina. "This woman...is..."

He glanced at Sabrina. "This woman...is..."

He wanted to ask if this woman was Master Sebastian's lover or something. However, before he could even finish his sentence, Sebastian said, "Kingston! Cut out Steve's tongue and shatter his limbs, but spare his life."

Everyone was speechless. They were all scared out of their wits.

Steve wailed. "Master Sebastian, Master Sebastian...please spare me. What...What exactly have I done to have offended you...?"

"When did my wife get to know you?"

Sebastian asked Steve while wrapping a hand around Sabrina. Steve was speechless.

"Did she know you before the incident at the Grand Sage International Hotel? Has she met you before?"

Steve still did not say anything.

"You're not talking, then indeed there isn't any use of your tongue anymore."

"I'll talk, I'll talk!" Steve was so frightened that his legs gave way and he knelt on the floor. "Yes...I don't know that she is your wife, Master Sebastian. It's...It's...Lo-Lori, who asked me to put on an act for her. Lori... she and I had a one-night stand, and she she and I had a one-night stand, and she said she will marry me. Master Sebastian, please spare me..."

"Take him away, cut off his tongue and shatter his limbs," Sebastian ordered calmly.

"Yes, Master Sebastian!" Kingston then dragged Steve away forcefully.

"Spare my life, spare me, Master Sebastian, spare him. Director Zach, please help me beg for mercy. Ah...d*mned Lori, it's all your fault. I will not forgive you even if I've become a ghost, you sl*tty b*tch!" Lori was the last person that Steve cursed before he was dragged off.

The people who were present, Zach, Autumn, and Emma, were so frightened that their faces turned pale.

"I'll say it again. If anyone dared to offend my wife, then you'll suffer a fate beyond your imagination." After saying that, Sebastian then walked out with one arm wrapped around Sabrina. He ordered the security that had just come over, "This is Aino's uncle's territory. Any unauthorized personnel are not allowed to enter in the future. If any of them enter again, break their legs immediately!"

their legs immediately!"

"Yes!" answered the captain of the security team.

Upon saying that, the captain then looked at Zach and the other two people. "Director Zach, you are no longer an employee of this company. Please leave immediately."

Zach and the other two people were then forcibly chased out. The three of them knew fully well in their hearts that the reason Sebastian did not punish them severely was out of respect for the Poole family of Kidon City. After all, Alex and Sebastian were blood brothers.

At this moment, Zayn, who had just exited the main entrance of the company, said in a worried tone. "Sebastian...during the period that I was recuperating at Kidon City, I often heard something about the Poole family, and it is related to Sabrina." Sebastian frowned. "What is it?"

However, now that she thought about it, she truly was incomparably crazy yesterday. She had not even clarified the matter and she just came home to mess with him like that. Zayn's grip got even tighter, and he made Autumn wail in pain.

Zayn sneered. "Autumn, it's best for you to behave yourself. I had been paralyzed for six years. Do you know who did I get by in those six years? Our lives in Ciarrai County were difficult, and we had to go out to work, behave yourself. I had been paralyzed for six years. Do you know who did I get by in those six years? Our lives in Ciarrai County were difficult, and we had to go out to work, only then could we have enough to eat.

Sabrina had to work at the construction site and still had to raise a child. I also had to do odd jobs for others every day. I had no strength in my legs, so I had to carry things with my hands and shoulders. Therefore, after so many years, the strength of my hand is enough to crush a brick!

"Autumn, if you still spew these foul languages from your mouth, I will crush your wrist into pieces!"

Autumn was speechless. She immediately did not dare to make another sound.

Chapter 1413

Only then did Zayn let go of Autumn.

Autumn immediately ran in front of Zach. At this moment, Emma also supported her own sister, and the three of them glared intently at Zayn and Sabrina.

"You two are quite bold. You actually dared to meet in private at the Smith Group?"

Emma sneered.

Sabrina looked at Emma coldly. "This is now my brother's territory. Are you coming here to create trouble?"

Emma sneered. "Ha! Sabrina! You can't force people into having their backs up against the wall, right? You have now cornered my sister and brother-in-law into being homeless! Would we be afraid of creating trouble?"

Sabrina asked, "What do you mean by homeless?"

"Did I search your house and confiscate your possessions? Or did I annex all of your private properties?"

Emma was speechless.

At this moment, Zach said sternly, "You didn't annex our private properties, but you didn't annex our private properties, but you stole my Smith Group! My Smith Group changed hands overnight, and it became your old lover's."

"Zach! Watch your words!" Zayn scolded.

"Zayn, then take a look at yourself! You're a man who got to where you are now by relying on a woman for financial support. Never mind if you have an ambiguous relationship with Sabrina, but you actually dare to come at me, your own cousin! You actually dared to steal from your own family! Have you no shame?"

"He didn't steal the Smith Group away, the person who stole it was me." A voice came from behind them.

Zach abruptly turned around when he heard the voice, and he saw Sebastian with a calm expression and holding a little girl's hand.

Zach stuttered, "Di-Director Ford, Master Ford, you-you're here?"

Zach, Autumn, and Emma, saw Sabrina entering the Smith Group when they were originally wandering around nearby the company. At that time, Zach was so infuriated that he cursed, "This Sabrina actually dared to rendezvous with Zayn so infuriated that he cursed, "This Sabrina actually dared to rendezvous with Zayn so audaciously at the Smith Group! Watch me as I catch them red-handed today!"

He could also vent his anger this way! Perhaps he could take back the Smith Group again if he were to catch and bring them to Sebastian.

Zach thought that Sebastian never would have expected that he would just help Zayn to take back the Smith Group, and Sabrina would be having a private meeting with Zayn here, right? If Sebastian were to find out, he would have turned Sabrina and Zayn up into minced meat. However, what Zach did not expect was that Sebastian was actually here as well.

"Zach, there are two things that I must clarify with you," Sebastian said coldly.

"Master...Master Sebastian, please go ahead."

"First, your Smith Group originally belonged to Zayn seven years ago. The Smith Group has no relations with you at all. You annexed the entire group of companies once you came back from abroad. How is that different from stealing? I am just returning things to the rightful owner now."

Zach was speechless.

Sebastian continued, "Secondly, the person who changed the ownership of your company overnight was not Zayn, let alone my wife. It was me. It was me who manipulated Lori to get your company's stamp, your signature, and your fingerprint. I've done all these, and do you know what it was for?"

Zach was speechless. He raised his gaze and looked at Sebastian while trembling. He seemed to have figured something out, but he did not dare to say it. At this moment, Autumn, who was leaning against Zach by his side, could also feel that her husband had already been trembling in fear.

She trembled.

Sebastian sneered. "I didn't go looking for you, and you actually served yourself on a platter, sending yourself to your grave."

Chapter 1414

When they heard Sebastian say that, Zach and Autumn were so frightened that they almost collapsed on the ground. In the end, it was Emma who was a bit feistier. After all, she also boasted that she was Sebastian's past lover. At this moment, Emma boldly questioned, "Sebastian Ford! You annexed my sister and my brother-in-law's Smith Group, and you still think you're being reasonable? You even say that they are here sending themselves to their grave? Sebastian Ford! Do you think the Poole family from Kidon City is easy to mess with? You actually dare to bully my sister and her husband like this?"

Sebastian could not be bothered to take a look at such a crazy woman like Emma.

"Do you know Steve Gibson?" Sebastian asked Zach.

Zach said, "Master-Master Ford, that...has nothing to do with me, no..."

Sebastian's tone became even colder. "Lori has the whole video of Steve harassing my wife at the Grand Sage International Hotel that she has taken herself."

Zach immediately knelt and explained, "

Master-Master Ford, Steve... He is a client

Zach immediately knelt and explained, "Mas-Master Ford, Steve...He...he is a client of mine. He has taken a fancy of Lori very much since the first time he laid eyes on her. It was Lori who used him..."

Sebastian kicked Zach away. Immediately after that, he said incomparably calmly, "Steve Gibson was originally a thug at Rock County. The reason why you, the Poole family, had chosen him was that he had not a care in this world and could give up his life. He could one day be the reckless soldier to your Poole family who was not afraid of death. Therefore, you have been keeping him. In the end, Lori had returned from abroad, and he came in handy! Steve's persona as a simp and the twenty million in his hands were all given to him by you, right? Your goal was simply to let Steve and Lori join forces and kick up a storm in both Kidon City and South City, right?"

Zach was speechless. He truly had this intention because he hated Sabrina. Not only was it because Sabrina had given him a warning just as she returned from Ciarrai County, but also because his wife's family hated Sabrina so much that they wished they could skin her alive. Therefore, when the Poole family told Zach this plan, he agreed without any hesitation.

agreed without any hesitation.

Zach had originally thought that there was no harm for him in this. This way, he could have one more friend, which was Lori, a top economics student who had returned from abroad, and he would also make Lori work for himself. Maybe he could even officially collaborate with the Ford Group in the future.

The most important thing was that Sabrina could be eliminated this way.

After Zach and the Poole family was done devising the plan, everyone felt that it was perfectly seamless. Especially that simp, he truly became a simp to Lori. It truly was because Lori was too beautiful and she had just returned from abroad. On top of that, Lori's mother, Jennie, was a born seductress. Therefore, she had also taught Lori to become seductive.

That night Lori had gone to Rock County to stay with Steve, she had indeed served him very well. Steve was sincerely willing and would not even hesitate to risk his life for Lori. Therefore, the effect of the scene at Grand Sage International Hotel taped by Lori could be so realistic.

However, no one had expected that a man in black would appear at the hotel. That man in black actually beat up Steve to the extent that he had to be hospitalized! Steve truly was a useless person. He appeared to be such a tall and well-built man, but he actually could not even take a beating!

"Kingston!" Sebastian suddenly gave the order to Kingston, who was standing in a hidden corner.

Kingston immediately came out. "Master Sebastian!"

"Bring Steve in!"

"Yes, Master Sebastian!"

Zach said, "You...you actually captured Steve and brought him here, and you were just waiting...waiting for us to appear?"

Sebastian did not even glance at Zach. "Zach, I had just annexed your company, so how could you admit defeat? You certainly would be hanging around here."

Zach was speechless.

Chapter 1415

Zach knew no matter what, he could not win against Sebastian. Even if Sebastian did not use his armed forces, Zach still had no way to compete against Sebastian. This was because Sebastian was craftier and was more meticulous at planning than he was.

Kingston had grabbed Steve by the back collar and brought him straight here. Steve had been beaten up quite badly by Holden. It had already been two days, but his face was still covered in bruises at this moment.

When he saw Sabrina, Kingston had an overwhelming expression on his face.

"You had a lot of guts," Sebastian said calmly.

"You are..." Steve looked at Sebastian with puzzlement.

"How rude! This is Master Sebastian from South City. How could you speak so disrespectfully?" Zach immediately scolded as he was fearful that Steve would get him into trouble.

Steve said, "Hello, Master Sebastian, you..."

He glanced at Sabrina. "This woman...is..."

He glanced at Sabrina. "This woman...is..."

He wanted to ask if this woman was Master Sebastian's lover or something. However, before he could even finish his sentence, Sebastian said, "Kingston! Cut out Steve's tongue and shatter his limbs, but spare his life."

Everyone was speechless. They were all scared out of their wits.

Steve wailed. "Master Sebastian, Master Sebastian...please spare me. What...What exactly have I done to have offended you...?"

"When did my wife get to know you?"

Sebastian asked Steve while wrapping a hand around Sabrina. Steve was speechless.

"Did she know you before the incident at the Grand Sage International Hotel? Has she met you before?"

Steve still did not say anything.

"You're not talking, then indeed there isn't any use of your tongue anymore."

"I'll talk, I'll talk!" Steve was so frightened that his legs gave way and he knelt on the floor. "Yes...I don't know that she is your wife, Master Sebastian. It's...It's...Lo-Lori, who asked me to put on an act for her. Lori... she and I had a one-night stand, and she

she and I had a one-night stand, and she said she will marry me. Master Sebastian, please spare me..."

"Take him away, cut off his tongue and shatter his limbs," Sebastian ordered calmly.

"Yes, Master Sebastian!" Kingston then dragged Steve away forcefully.

"Spare my life, spare me, Master Sebastian, spare him. Director Zach, please help me beg for mercy. Ah...d*mned Lori, it's all your fault. I will not forgive you even if I've become a ghost, you sl*tty b*tch!" Lori was the last person that Steve cursed before he was dragged off.

The people who were present, Zach, Autumn, and Emma, were so frightened that their faces turned pale.

"I'll say it again. If anyone dared to offend my wife, then you'll suffer a fate beyond your imagination." After saying that, Sebastian then walked out with one arm wrapped around Sabrina. He ordered the security that had just come over, "This is Aino's uncle's territory. Any unauthorized personnel are not allowed to enter in the future. If any of them enter again, break their legs immediately!"

their legs immediately!"

"Yes!" answered the captain of the security team.

Upon saying that, the captain then looked at Zach and the other two people. "Director Zach, you are no longer an employee of this company. Please leave immediately."

Zach and the other two people were then forcibly chased out. The three of them knew fully well in their hearts that the reason Sebastian did not punish them severely was out of respect for the Poole family of Kidon City. After all, Alex and Sebastian were blood brothers.

At this moment, Zayn, who had just exited the main entrance of the company, said in a worried tone. "Sebastian...during the period that I was recuperating at Kidon City, I often heard something about the Poole family, and it is related to Sabrina." Sebastian frowned. "What is it?"

Chapter 1416

Zayn said, "Kidon City's Poole family and Parker family had been friends for generations. Alex originally was going to get married to the daughter of the Parker family soon, but it was messed up by some friend of Sabrina's. They said that that friend of Sabrina's was a homewrecker. They also said that the two of them are the same type of women. I was at the private hospital at that time, so I couldn't inquire about any important information. Now that I think about it, this sister-in-law of mine is a member of the Poole family and so is Emma! They are just crazy b*tches..."

When that was mentioned, Sabrina instantly sneered. "They really are putting the cart before the horse. How wronged must Jane be to be talked about like this by them?"

Zayn asked, "Jane?"

Sabrina said, "Yes. Jane is now missing..."

At this moment, Sebastian's phone suddenly rang. He took out his phone and looked at it. It was his father calling.

Sebastian instantly answered it. "What?"

Over on the other end, his father's voice

Over on the other end, his father's voice seemed tired. "Sebastian, you..."

He stopped mid-sentence with a faltering speech.

"Please be straightforward if you have something to say! Did you see Sabrina with another man again?" Sebastian's tone was incomparably cold and stern.

There was a pause before he said again, "Sebastian...your mother's grave, where exactly...is the location?"

Sebastian was speechless. His father had been there before. However, he had only been there once in the past seven years. It was also Kingston who had drove him there.

He probably could not even remember the name of the cemetery, so how could he remember the location?

"She doesn't need you to pay respect to her!" Sebastian said.

Sean said, "Sebastian, I knew you certainly would say so. It has been so many years. The reason I had not gone to your mother's grave was not only because of your stepmother, but it was also because of you. I don't even know if you will let me go

I don't even know if you will let me go there. Please give me a chance and let me go pay my respects to her, alright?"

"No!" said Sebastian.

Sean said, "Sebastian, there's something I must tell you. At the very least, your mother loved me, right? Maybe your mother would want to see me?"

Sebastian was speechless. No one knew better than Sebastian that his mother had a wish before she passed away. She wished that she would see her husband once again. Even if she had never gotten a marriage certificate with Sean, and even if she had always been carrying the label of being a homewrecker, Sean was still the only man Grace had loved in her lifetime. She had experienced the pain of losing her family before she started looking for a job as a college graduate. It was also at that time that Sean appeared in Grace's life. He was eight years older than Grace, and he had the dominance and nobility of a person of high status. Most importantly, he had meticulously cared for Grace in every possible way.

How could Grace, a recent college graduate at that time, resist such a romantic move?

at that time, resist such a romantic move? Grace had been head over heels for him since then. Even if she clearly knew that Sean was tricking her, she could never recover the love that she had given to him. Grace had not been able to fall for another man after him. Even when she was on her deathbed, she still longed to see Sean again.

Perhaps if Grace could see Sean at that time, she might then be able to tell the only man for her about the secret that she had kept for her whole life. However, Sean was abroad at that time instead to accompany his grief-stricken wife. Until Grace had passed away, he still was not able to come back and take a look at the woman whom he had once tricked and had given birth to two of his children. This was the man's viciousness!

At this point, Sebastian's mother had passed away for seven years! Sean wanted to visit her now?

Chapter 1417

Sebastian desperately wanted to slap Sean. However, Sean was right. Sebastian's mother did wish to see Sean one last time. Speaking of his mother, Sebastian could not help but become soft-hearted.

With a deep and cold voice, he informed his father of the specific address for his mother's grave over the phone. Over on the other end, Sean let out a deep sigh. Going to take Grace's grave to have a look was a decision made after he and Rose had discussed it for a day. Too many things have happened recently. Sean kept feeling that there were some things that he just did not know. For example, Old Master Shaw and Sebastian seemed to have been hiding something from him, and the matter should be related to Star Island. However, no matter how he asked Old Master Shaw, he just would not tell him.

What exactly had Old Master Shaw meant? Sean had no idea. Just a moment ago, he bit the bullet and made a call to Old Master Shaw. Over on the other end of the line, Old Master Shaw's voice was incomparably mellow and very weak, but each and every word was spoken very clearly. "Sean! You and I are guilty men, do you know that?"

and I are guilty men, do you know that?"

Sean was speechless.

"In my lifetime, I had always felt that the person I cannot fail the most is my wife. As long as I have achieved that, only then will I truly be a good man. However, Sean, have you thought about it? How wronged were those women who had been hurt by us?

Whether it's my Goldie or your Grace, what have they done wrong? Grace did not seduce you, but you ruined her life instead. Not only that, you even let her and her own flesh and blood..." Old Master Shaw suddenly paused mid-sentence.

He coughed for a long while, then he said, "In short, the person that you should be most sorry for is Grace."

Upon saying that, Old Master Shaw then hung up the phone. However, Sean was more and more uncertain in his heart. What was the meaning of the last sentence said by the old man just now? He could no longer drag it on any further. He had to pay a visit to Grace's grave.

In fact, Sean actually had a place for Grace deep down in his heart. Sean had been very generous with his love when he was young, and he had a love for all the delicate little and he had a love for all the delicate little flowers when he saw them. He could not even count the number of girls he had left on his bed.

However, Grace was the one who impressed him the most. It was particularly so when Grace called him hubby in an extremely helpless manner with tears in her eyes. The way she called out could simply melt his heart. However, Sean had married a very powerful wife. Not only did his wife give birth to a few sons for him, but she also could give him a helping hand in his career. Therefore, although Sean loved to play with women his whole life, he was also most afraid of his own wife, Rose. Especially when those few sons of his died tragically one after another and he had gotten older, he felt that his wife was even more precious then.

There was a saying that no matter how many lovers some kind of man had out there, the position of his wife would still remain strong in his heart. That was talking about such a man like him. Besides, Grace was a woman who had already passed away. So much so that after so many years, Sean had only visited Grace's grave once when he had just returned from abroad. Also, he did not even know how to grave once when he had just returned from abroad. Also, he did not even know how to get there.

After he had asked Sebastian for the route, both Sean and Rose went to Grace's grave with a complicated state of mind. It was drizzling when they entered the cemetery. Right at the moment when they saw Grace's tombstone, both Sean and Rose saw at the same time that there was a man in black who was actually lying in front of the tombstone. To be more specific, there was a man in black sleeping there.

Who could it be?

Their bodyguard went up to check. "Old director, this person is as drunk as a skunk."

Upon saying that, the bodyguard then flipped the man over so that his face was facing Sean.

Sean and Rose were both stunned. "It's him!"

Chapter 1418

Under the fine drizzle, Grace's grave seemed even more desolate.

There was a man as drunk as a skunk lying in front of her pitch-black tombstone, and that man was unexpectedly Holden Payne. The big bouquet in front of him seemed to be dewier after it was drenched by the fine drizzles. However, that cool tone of the flower gave people an incomparably miserable feeling.

Those flowers were right in front of Holden. In fact, he had actually been holding them in his hand and he just could not bear to let it go. However, he was flipped over by the bodyguards, so his grip was released. That bouquet appeared to be lonely laying on top of the black marble.

Sean, who was watching all that at the bottom of the steps, was even more confused.

"Why would he come to Grace's grave? Who exactly is this man?" Some sort of confusion started to emerge in Rose's mind. After all, she was a woman, so it was only natural for her to be more sensitive. Rose could relate to that as every time Holden came to harass Sean and herself, he had came to harass Sean and herself, he had actually only beaten her up, and had never hit Sean once. Then she recalled that he was the fourth son of the Payne family from Star Island. His age appeared to be almost the same as Sebastian.

Rose was startled, then she immediately instructed the bodyguard. "Turn his head to an upright position and wipe off the rain on his face. Let me look at him carefully."

Hearing his wife's voice trembling, Sean was also stunned. The bodyguard put Holden into an upright position, and then wiped off the rain on his face. Perhaps it was uncomfortable to be flipped around by others like this, Holden finally moved a little. After that, he opened his eyes.

The first person he saw was Sean. In an instant, Holden's eyes widened.

He looked at Sean with a pair of bloodshot eyes. "You...you old geezer! Why...why are you here? How did you get here? How bold of you to come! Get the hell away! Get lost!"

Upon saying that, Holden then raised his leg and kicked Sean as if he had gone mad.

Unfortunately, Sean was protected by his bodyguard and Holden was still drunk, so bodyguard and Holden was still drunk, so Holden did not manage to kick Sean.

Sean was supported by his bodyguard. After recovering slightly, he asked with incomparable confusion. "Holden Payne! You...you are not the fourth young master of the Payne family. Who the hell are you? Say it, who are you?"

Sean had a great suspicion and had a wave of intense anger that was almost going to erupt like a volcano!

Holden looked at Sean with a hazy and incomparably dejected gaze. He muttered in a self-mocking manner. "Who am I? Who am I? I...Who am I? Have you defined who I am for me? Since you have never defined who I am, then what right do you have to ask me who I am? You old geezer! You tell me. You come and tell me! Come and tell me who I am! Why haven't you defined what my identity was? Why didn't you tell me who I am?" Holden grabbed Sean's clothes, and he shook him so hard that Sean's aged skeletal structure almost fell apart.

Sean was speechless. Out of a sudden, Holden released Sean. Holden then turned his head around and saw that smile on the extremely clean tombstone that was drenched by the rain. That benevolent extremely clean tombstone that was drenched by the rain. That benevolent, amiable, elegant and beautiful smile. She had strands of white hair on her head. Her gaze was that gentle, and there was a kind of deep melancholy in that gentleness. She was so beautiful.

She was laid permanently in this tombstone.

Holden looked at the picture on the tombstone, then suddenly bawled. "You!
Why must you die! Why didn't you wait for me to have a look at you before you die!
How could you be this cruel! He was cruel!
You are also cruel! You are all cruel! He asked me who I am. Who am I? I don't even know who I am. Come and tell me who I am!"

Chapter 1419

"Please don't sleep here. You haven't even seen me yet. How can you sleep here and not get up? Get up! Tell me and tell him who I am!"

Holden was actually covered in tears. The adult man was crying in an incomparably tragic manner. Sean was speechless. He asked his bodyguard to fetch the gatekeeper of the cemetery.

Ten minutes later, the gatekeeper came. When he saw Holden, the gatekeeper was instantly stunned. "This...wasn't this person already here the day before yesterday? He brought a big bag of food when he came in. Did he finish them all? Has he...not left in the past two days?"

This is the cemetery. People would usually come and mourn for a moment and then leave. Also, the staff here at the cemetery were working eight hours of rotational shifts. Who would think that someone would stay over at this cemetery?

Holden had indeed come over two days ago after asking for the contact from Sabrina. He had gotten fresh flowers for his mother, whom he had not met before, and he had also bought food and alcohol for himself.

also bought food and alcohol for himself. After that, he had been sitting and drinking here and had not left since. He thought it would be great to just get himself as drunk as skunk and just die here! He already had nothing left. He certainly could never return to Star Island anymore.

Since he was young, he had always wanted to know why his father was so cold to him and why his mother did not love him. It turned out that he was not even their biological child. Besides, he was even the child of his parent's enemies. They were already benevolent enough to have brought him up. How would he dare to return to Star Island again?

Although his parents and brother were at South City, there was no place for Holden to call home here. In fact, where on this enormous earth has a place for Holden to call home? He was full of hate! He was full of incomparable hate! Holden hated that he could not just dig up the woman who was laid to rest here and properly question her. He wanted to ask her why she gave him away to be raised by others. Why must it be him? Why?

However, he could not bear it. When he thought about how the woman, whose own thought about how the woman, whose own life and death were unpredictable, gave birth to two children on that cold delivery bed, and also how she had to hide him on Star Island just for the sake of saving at least one of her two children, he just could not bear it.

Therefore, he diverted all his hate to Sean. It was that d*mned old thing! It was Sean! It was all caused by Sean and Rose!

Holden grimaced fiercely and glared at Sean and Rose with a pair of glassy eyes. "You...you guys are d*mned old things! I...I just want to kill you today!"

"What's the matter with you? You came to the cemetery to get so drunk! What a great disrespect to the dead! Who are you? You actually slept here for two days and two nights! Get out! Get out of here! If you don't get out, I will call the police," the gatekeeper scolded Holden angrily.

Holden sneered. "You have no business here! Get the hell out of here!"

The gatekeeper said, "You..."

Before he could shout, Holden then raised his left and fiercely kicked in Rose's direction. However, he did not manage to kick Rose but was blocked by the kick Rose but was blocked by the bodyguard instead.

The two bodyguards pinned Holden down, then raised their heads and asked Sean and Rose, "Old Director Sean and Madam, what should we do?"

Rose then decisively said, "Give Old master Shaw a call!"

Sean took out his phone and dialed a group of numbers. Over on the other end, Old Master Shaw also picked up the call very quickly. "Sean...is there anything else?"

Sean suppressed the anger in his voice and asked, "Uncle Shaw, did Grace have another man?"

Chapter 1420

Old Master Shaw said, "Sean...what are you talking about? How could you? You...It has already been seven years since Grace had passed away. How could you still be insulting her name now?"

Old Master Shaw was so exasperated that he laughed. "Besides, Sean, you have to remember your relationship with Grace! You had never married her, so she was still single. She was nobody to you, so she had no obligation to maintain her innocence for you! You, on the other hand, have a wife and family, but still went and seduced her!"

Although Old Master Shaw had already reprimanded him, Sean still did not suppress his anger. He still said over the phone, "That might be true, but the people in the entire South City and even the Star Island had known that Grace was my woman! They all knew that Grace was a woman who had given birth to my son! However, how is it that a man had appeared here in front of her grave at this moment. If my guess was right, this man should be Grace's other son! Son! Uncle Shaw! Do you know how old is he? Do you know who he is? Holden Payne! The young lord of the Payne family on Star Island, lord of the Payne family on Star Island, Holden Payne! Uncle Shaw, tell me honestly, the secret that you had been keeping from me, is it..."

At this point, Sean almost could not ask any further. He truly felt that it was too humiliating. Too humiliating! If his predictions were right, Holden should be the illegitimate child of Grace and the Chief of Star Island!

This d*mned woman! She had actually been pretending in front of him for decades! She had pretended to love him with all her heart and soul! She did not get to see him one last time before she died, and that had always made Sean feel guilty! However, what happened in the end? She had actually been entangled between two men. She had actually given birth to two sons! Grace had kept this matter hidden so perfectly! Sean was so furious that both his nostrils were flaring.

However, Old Master Shaw's long sigh could be heard over on the other end of the line instead. "Sean, you are saying that Holden had gone to his mother's grave?"

"Sure enough! As expected, he is Grace's illegitimate son!"

illegitimate son!"

Sean abruptly put his phone away and ordered his bodyguards, "This d*mned lecher! His dad seduced my woman behind my back and gave birth to this b*stard! Now, he is trying to steal my son's woman! Bury this lecher alive! If I don't demonstrate my power, you won't know my might! Bury him alive on the spot! Bury him alive now!"

Sean was truly mad from anger! In his lifetime, only he could betray women, but there was no way for his woman to betray him! At this moment, even the son had been born and he was already all grown up! How could he not be angry? The bodyguards were speechless.

"Why haven't you got started?" Sean scolded.

"Stop it! All of you stop!" Rose suddenly scolded sternly at this moment.

The bodyguards were surprised. "Madam..."

"Get Holden up and hold him up!" Rose ordered. The bodyguards then held Holden up.

Sean looked at Rose with a puzzled expression. "Rose, what are you doing?"

Sean looked at Rose with a puzzled expression. "Rose, what are you doing?"

Rose ignored Sean, and she just went forward. She took out a handkerchief from her bag and carefully wiped off the raindrops on Holden's face.

"Get lost!" Holden wanted to kick Rose, but he was stopped by the bodyguards. Rose forcibly wiped the raindrops clean on Holden's face. After that, she turned her head around and looked at Sean. "Sean, look at him, who does he...resemble?"

Sean said with annoyance, "Of course, he resembles the people of the Payne family!"
