

Chapter 1829

Speaking of that, Malvolio lowered his head and looked at the clumsy pregnant woman. "If Sebastian were to find out that I've even slept with his pregnant wife, I wonder if Sebastian would be so furious that he vomits blood? Hey, pregnant woman. I asked you a question, but you haven't answered me. Are you willing to be my sex slave?"

Malvolio looked at Sabrina with an incredibly insulting gaze.

In the past few years, although Malvolio had not returned to the country and had not seen Sebastian, he had inquired about matters relating to Sebastian from multiple aspects, so he also knew a little bit about him. He knew that Sebastian had a very knew a little about him. He knew that Sebastian had a very unyielding wife with strong integrity. He knew that Sebastian loved his wife very much. To have both Sebastian and Holden fall in love with her at the same time, this woman must be extraordinary.

To be honest, just because Sabrina was pregnant, that would not stop Malvolio from touching her. Holden had already said that he had a doctor, equipment, and everything on his ship. In the worst case, Malvolio could just let Sabrina have a C-section, take the child out, and toss it out at sea. After that, he could just let her rest for a month, then she could properly be Malvolio's sex slave after that. If her service was properly be Malvolio's sex slave after that. If her service was good, perhaps he could even properly dote on this woman.

Malvolio was waiting for Sabrina to resist him or curse at him. It would be most interesting that way. However, what Malvolio did not expect was that Sabrina would suddenly smile seductively. "It would be my greatest honor to be able to be doted on by Master Malvolio."

Malvolio was speechless. What Sabrina said next was even more jaw-dropping. She slowly got up and smiled even more alluringly. "Master Malvolio, I don't have many capabilities, but I can guarantee you that my skill in that aspect is certainly top-notch. Although I am now eight guarantee you that my skin in that aspect is certainly top-notch. Although I am now eight months pregnant, my skill still would not lose to any other woman. Master Malvolio, do you want to try?"

Malvolio was speechless. He was simply stunned. Rumor has it that Sabrina was very proud and would rather die than yield. It was because of this kind of character of hers that she had completely attracted and conquered Sebastian back then. Could it be that this debauched woman in front of him was a fake?

Sabrina had approached him. Her smile was filled with refined emotions and was very captivating. Malvolio was unexpectedly distracted for a few captivating. Malvolio was unexpectedly distracted for a few seconds. It was right within that few seconds, Sabrina suddenly pulled out a sharp dagger from Malvolio's waist and very accurately stabbed him.

Everyone present was speechless. Holden, who was originally wailing in pain, was also dumbfounded. Nobody expected that Sabrina would actually be so resolute and so fearless. She held the dagger that was stabbed in Malvolio's chest with one hand and then turned to look at Holden. "Holden! You should learn from me. If you want to deal with your enemies, just relying on brute forces is useless! You have to learn to be even more underhanded than your opponent and use even even more unhandled than your opponent and use even more devious tricks!”

After saying that, she looked at Malvolio again and smiled innocently. “Mister Yeatman! I forgot to tell you! Not only could I be seductive, but I am also a fierce woman! I am a strong woman carrying a child, who can bite till you bleed and kill you! I’m sorry, Mister Yeatman. Let me kill you first before you get to harm my husband! Go to hell! You sc*m!”

Sabrina suddenly pulled the dagger out as she wanted to stab him again. However, she was still too weak. It was easy for her to stab him, but she did not have the strength to pull the dagger back out.

to stab him, but he did not have the strength to pull the dagger back out.

Malvolio smiled. "Sabrina, I was indeed right about you. I finally understood why the two brothers, Sebastian and Holden, would like you so much. I finally understood why Holden would forgo his empire and use nine hundred million dollars to buy that island just to be together with you. Sabrina, I'll marry you. I will be good to you for life, alright?"

Malvolio held the dagger with one hand, and he stretched his other arm to hold Sabrina's waist.