

Chapter 1830

Sabrina simply could not believe it. She looked at Malvolio, and then she sneered. "Are you f*cking crazy? Are you an idiot? I'm already eight months pregnant, and yet, you want to marry me? Are you and Holden alike where both of you liked to be cuckolded and liked to be the father of someone else's child?"

Sabrina was truly pissed off. She originally only wanted a quick death, and to take out her husband's arch-enemy on his behalf at the same time. She felt that she would have gotten a bargain if she could do that. However, what she did not expect was that his robber and burglar named Malvolio would expect was that the robber and burglar named Malvolio would actually be the same as Holden and wanted to marry her. Was she that unlucky? Either a pervert wanted to marry her or a robber wanted to marry her! What kind of sin has she actually committed to deserve this?

“Sabrina, I am not crazy. I am serious. Do you think I must be crazy since I don't really know you yet and I wanted to marry you after we've only met once? However, that's not the case.” Malvolio smiled miserably.

Sabrina was speechless. ‘F*ck you, you son of a b*cth!’ There was not a time when Sabrina wanted to curse so badly. She looked at Malvolio in disbelief.

“Your husband is my arch-looked at Malvolio in disbelief.

"Your husband is my arch-enemy. I wanted to deal with him, so I certainly have to spend money to collect all kinds of information about him.

Therefore, although I was not in the country, I still know your husband very well. I know you very well," Malvolio said.

Malvolio held the dagger in his chest, and blood came gurgling down the handle of the dagger. That was an immensely shocking sight to see. However, he did not frown nor did he pull the dagger out. He just held the dagger in this chest with one hand and held Sabrina with her other. The way he looked made Sabrina incredibly speechless. She suddenly had a kind of thought in her head that this Sabrina increasingly speechless. She suddenly had a kind of thought in her head that this robber was actually also a tough man.

Malvolio continued. "I know you very well. I know that to save a young nobleman in South City named Nigel Conor back then, you had actually used your arms to block two knife attacks for him and you were also pregnant at that time. Thus, you have saved Nigel's life. Because you were pregnant at that time and you couldn't use anesthesia, so you asked the doctor to have the surgery done on you without anesthesia. You know, even a tough and manly man like myself could hardly do that, let alone you, a pregnant woman. There are still more after that."

alone you, a pregnant woman.
There are still more after that.”

Malvolio sighed. “You’ve also taken great care of another young man named Nigel Smith. You treated him like your brother, a lifelong brother. To buy him a wheelchair, you, a woman, stood in the muddy water at the construction site and worked more than ten hours continuously. It’s hard to find such a woman who valued relationships and loyalty in this world. Even if I am a robber, I also hope to have such a woman by my side in my life, then it would have been worth it even if I die!” ②

Malvolio had toyed with many women in his life. When he was still in Kidon City, although he had a low social status and often women in his life. When he was still in Kidon City, although he had a low social status and often robbed others, he was tall and mighty. The kind of arrogant hostility he had on him had conquered quite a number of women. Later on, in those few years when he was on the run aboard and was being pursued by Sebastian, he also had been involved with many foreign girls. If he were to calculate his number in detail, then he should at least have more than a few dozen. However, he was only truly impressed by Sabrina alone. Although Sabrina was pregnant, when she wanted to be seductive, her seductiveness also could make him immensely joyful. When she wanted to be resolute, she was more resolute than any other woman, and she could make me immensely joyful. When she wanted to be resolute, she was more resolute than any other woman and she caught him off guard. ❀

After all, she was pregnant and had been frightened, so she was too weak. In addition, he had a big, tall and strong figure, so she did not injure his organs with that one stabbing. He did not feel any pain at all. He just felt that that was a kind of honor for him. Sabrina, on the other hand, was so furious that she very desperately wanted to raise her hand and tear up this robber's face.

At that moment, a woman suddenly came running over to the man's side. The woman was limping slightly when she walked, her shorter leg was Sabrina, on the other hand, was so furious that she very desperately wanted to raise her hand and tear up this robber's face.

At that moment, a woman suddenly came running over to the man's side. The woman was limping slightly when she walked, her shorter leg was slightly unable to bend.

However, she ran very quickly towards Malvolio. "You...what happened to you?"

Malvolio smiled gently at that woman. "I'm fine."

"Malvolio, my brother!" shouted the woman.