

Chapter 1724

Not only was Hana stunned after hearing Zayn say that, but even the crowd of onlookers, Tessa, Hector were all stunned at that same time.

Tessa was the first to regain her senses. “Zayn Smith! What did you say? You want to marry her? This b*tch! You can’t marry her! You can’t!” She looked at Zayn with incomparable resentment.

Zayn turned his head back and looked at Tessa. “Miss Caven, I think you don’t have any right to give orders to anybody! You don’t have the right to take your hand and point at your mother like this! Also, as her daughter, you shouldn’t have the right to intervene with whatever your mother wants to do, right?”

Tessa was speechless. Zayn’s outright condemnation left Tessa at a loss for words. Zayn did not have to reprimand Tessa. He had just resolutely made the decision in a split second that he wanted to marry Hana. It was as if he saw that two miserable hearts would be connected together. He just wanted them to hold together. He just wanted them to hold each other and keep each other warm.

Once again, Zayn looked at Hana seriously. "Miss Sharpe, are you willing to marry me? I am infertile. We may not have children in the future, but I will go through thick and thin together with you for the rest of our lives. Will you marry me? I will never let you suffer again, never let you wander the streets again. I will take care of your aunt together with you, alright?"

Hana absolutely never expected it. She was forty years old and was already half an old lady. Her daughter was already twenty-two years old. Such a tall, rich, and handsome man would unexpectedly propose to her? Was it because God saw that her life was too bitter, so God gave her a blessing? She had originally planned to end her life because there was no meaning for her to be alive anymore. However, at that moment, her eyes suddenly lit up. "Are you...being serious?"

"Of course!" Zayn said loudly. "Ever since I came back from Ciarra county, I have kept every single word of mine. I am already thirty-two years old. I have considered my future very thoroughly. I a

Already thirty-two years old. I have considered my future very thoroughly. I am not being impulsive.”

Perhaps, after being in touch with Hana for the past couple of days, Zayn’s feelings were already drawn towards her. Perhaps he had always felt that he and Tessa were not compatible. Therefore, when Tessa broke up with him, he did not feel any pain at all. Rather, he felt a sense of relief. All of the pain he felt in the past two days was because he was not a true man. However, he had already vented quite a lot of his pain in front of Hana. He did not vent his pain in front of his parents. He did not even show it in front of Sabrina. He had only cried for half an hour in Hana’s ward. That meant that deep within his heart, he had already taken Hana as his own kind and was already fond of Hana a long time ago, was that not true?

He had the same eye as her niece, Aino. However, he was not as pure as Aino, and his vision was not as clear as Aino. Aino had already her eyes on Hana at the very beginning, but he took a big round instead. At that moment, his intention was absolutely firm. He wanted to marry was absolutely firm. He wanted to marry this woman, Hana, who was eight years older than him.

“If you don’t mind me for being infertile, then I will take you to get our marriage certificate,” Zayn said gently again.

“No! I don’t mind! Of course, I don’t mind!” Hana immediately cried as she was so touched.

At that instant, she no longer wanted to die anymore. What daughter? What only daughter? Hana had no such thing. Perhaps she already had no such thing since Tessa’s childhood.

Chapter 1725

It was just wishful thinking on Hana's part. She had always felt that she still had a daughter, so for all the difficulties and work that she had to go through, she would have her daughter to back her up. However, what happened in the end? Her twenty-two years old daughter had slapped her twice, and those slaps had severed all of the familial relationships between a mother and a daughter. Hana no longer had a daughter.

Hana needed something for her to lean on. A place where she could lean against and rest. It so happened that Zayn also needed a place for him to nurse his wounds. Hana was extremely happy with the fact that the two people, who were hurt and incomplete, could end up together.

"Zayn, don't you think I'm too old? I am already forty years old."

"You're very beautiful."

"But I..."

"I know. I am infertile, but we can adopt a child. No! We can adopt about five child. No! We can adopt about five children. With my financial abilities, we can afford to raise them. After we adopt the children, you can just stay at home to take care of the children. I will take care of them together with you after work. This way, the children will never be not close to you after they grow up," said Zayn.

"Hana." Zayn even changed the way he addressed her. "In the future, you will be someone with children. You will never have to endure the pain of separation between mother and daughter."

"Mm-hmm! We will adopt many children. Ten of them. When we are all old and gray, we will be surrounded by the children. Zayn, you're the best gift God has given me." Hana immediately burst out in tears. In an instant, she plunged herself into Zayn's arms. She cried so inconsolably and lose herself in her tears. The way she cried made all the neighbors at the scene sigh silently. Some of the older ones among them even had tears streaming down their faces.

After a long while, someone whispered, "My friend with such a miserable life, you have suffered for forty years. The hard times are finally over, and the good times Love suffered for forty years. The hard times are finally over, and the good times are finally here. You can enjoy life from now on." That was only a single voice.

Just as the voice stopped, another incomparably sharp and furious voice that sounded as if it wanted to murder someone could be heard coming from behind Zayn and Hana. "Hana Sharpe! You shameless thing! You snatched away your daughter's boyfriend. How could you still live in this world so shamelessly?"

That was Tessa's voice. She was so exasperated that she wanted to bang her head on the wall. She felt extremely embarrassed! A mother wanted to steal her daughter's boyfriend away and even marry him. What the hell is that?

Right after Tessa finished her words, Hector, who had kept his mouth shut until then, spoke up. His tone was not as sharp as Tessa's, but it was more lethal than Tessa's tone. "Hana Sharpe! You shameless thing! You had abandoned your daughter since her childhood. Never mind if you did not take on the responsibility as a mother, but you even came to the house to snatch your possibility as a mother, but you even came to the house to snatch your daughter's boyfriend! I have never seen such a shameless woman like you! I truly have been doomed tremendously to have married you back then! I don't mind being embarrassed now. Hana Sharpe, can you even still remember how many men have you fooled around with? Don't you know how filthy you are? You still wanted to harm Tessa's boyfriend? Don't you forget that we still haven't been divorced yet! You're committing a crime of bigamy if you marry Tessa's boyfriend now! You will be imprisoned for that!"

What he said had truly made it sound like it was entirely Hana's fault in an outsider's ears. Snatching her daughter's boyfriend and she still has not divorced her husband yet. No matter which of the above was singled out, it was enough for her to be spurned by others.

Zayn sneered. An older man truly is a wiser man. He could kill someone without even using a weapon. There had to be a reason for those people to have chosen Hector to be an assassin back then! This murderous evildoer!

then! This murderous evildoer!

Both Zayn and Hana turned their heads to look at Hector who had a furious expression. Hector sneered. "Hana, you're committing a crime of bigamy. Do you know that?"

Without waiting for Hana to speak, Zayn asked, "Then may I ask if you have gotten a marriage certificate when you and Hana got married back then?"

Hector was caught off guard slightly. "What did you-you say?"

"May I ask if you and Hana are married?" asked Zayn.

Hector was speechless.

"When you got together with her back then, she was still a minor right? When she was pregnant, she was still three months shy from being eighteen, right? Being seventeen and a half years old, how could she get a marriage certificate with you? Later on, when she had already fulfilled the requirement of being twenty-two years old, did you get a marriage certificate with her?"

Hector was speechless. He did not expect that Zayn would have such a clear understanding of the situation. He stammered, "How did you...know? You're...you're investigating me?"

Zayn sneered. He did not look at Hector, but he just looked at Tessa. "Tessa, I did not have any other purpose for investigating your mother. I was only doing it to let you and your mother

Investigating your mother. I was only doing it to let you and your mother reconcile. I originally wanted to mediate the relationship between you and your mother, but it seems there is no need for that now. ①

“Tessa, I also want to tell you this. One day, you will also become a mother. When that day comes, you will have your regrets! It’ll take it as I have been blinded in the past and have misjudged you for the better! No matter how much I have spent on you, it has never crossed my mind to ask it back from you! Your mother only came to look for you because she didn’t want to accept benefits from others for no reason! However, you have bitterly disappointed her and made her very heartbroken. You have killed the affection between you and her as mother and daughter. You have killed her heart alive! Don’t say that I’ve not warned you!” ①

Zayn turned around and walked off upon saying that. He came in front of Hana and took her hand. “Hana, let’s go!”

“Mm-hmm.” Hana responded very softly. She did not turn around to look at her daughter anymore. However, her

...tly. She did not turn around to look at her daughter anymore. However, her heart was bleeding. She was yearning for Zayn to stop the bleeding in her heart. "Let's go get our marriage certificate now, alright?"

"Of course!" said Zayn.

He had never expected that his marriage would be this dramatic. He had been searching and searching for more than thirty years and he had finally found his most beloved. Perhaps there was no need for an extended test of time. Only one look and one matter were needed for him to determine that she was going to be the harbor where his soul could go to take a rest. It was the same for her.

Hana and Zayn looked at each other in the car. "Mister Smith..."

"Call me Zayn," said Zayn.

"Zayn..." Hana blushed a little.

"I will call you Hana from now on."

"I'm older than you. If you call me this way, I will feel..."

"No matter how much older you are, you will always be my girl. In the days to come..."

● No matter how much older you are, you are still a woman. In the days to come from now on, I will dote on you so much that you'll be a dainty woman."

"I'm already forty years old. How could I still be dainty?" Hana's heart was slowly being contained by happiness.

"A forty-year-old woman is still a flower thriving in beauty. Many forty-year-old actresses were great. They have depth, are interesting, and they also have an imposing and calm temperament. They did not lose their femininity at all. How can a twenty-year-old woman compare to that?"

Hana instantly became confident after being praised by Zayn. "Mm-hmm! You're right, Zayn. We have to live our lives well in the future."

"Come on, let's go get our marriage certificate!"

"Alright!"

As the engine was started, the luxurious Lend Raver sped off. The onlookers in front of Tessa's house that was left behind were looking at each other. Many of them started to sigh endlessly. "Well,

“I don’t know, but I feel that Mister Caven is quite a good person. In the ten years he opened a store here, he had always been kind and polite.”

“That’s right. Especially that daughter of his. She is sensible, good, and she did well in college. I felt it’s her mother who was in the wrong.”

“That mother of hers truly is a ridiculous person.”

“She actually snatched her daughter’s boyfriend in front of her daughter’s house.”

“There truly is nothing too strange in this big world.”

“There are all sorts of shameless women.”

A crowd of onlookers in front of Tessa’s house had varying opinions. Hector and Tessa also gained quite a few of their pity.

Hector even burst out bawling. “Tessa, m

"Dad... We should ignore that d*mned woman from now on. I will certainly not give her any support when she is old and gray!"

"What is this when she gets old nonsense? I curse that a car will run her over and kill her when she leaves the house!"

"Mm-hmm!"

At that moment, a voice suddenly could be heard coming from the crowd. "Hector! You are also already a man in his fifties! You should be kinder with your words! Aren't you afraid of receiving retribution for cursing your daughter's mother like this? You moved here from the countryside ten years ago, so nobody knew your past! Twenty years ago, I was your neighbor!

The man with the very old voice was looking at Hector very resentfully. Following that, the old man looked at Tessa. "If that woman was going to give birth to an ungrateful wench like you, then it would have been better for her to not have done so! Do you how much your mother had suffered when giving birth to you? In the end, all she got was two slaps from you after she had exhausted all her efforts in raising you?" The old man left upon saying that.

Tessa chased after him from behind. "Don't go! What did you say just now? Clarify your words! What is this about her suffering when giving birth to me and exhausting all her efforts to raise me? I admit that she had given birth to me, but has she raised me? Make yourself clear! Old man! Don't leave! Stop where you are!"

The old man did not turn back. He only sighed and said, "Don't ask me. I won't tell you even if you asked me. If you really want to know, you can find out once ask around in the village that you originally came from twenty years ago. Is there even a need to ask me? I shouldn't be the

It's considered a fair thing that God had done to let that poor lady find such a good man who loves her when she is forty years old. Otherwise, it would be too cruel!"

The old man walked off while he was saying that, and what he said made Tessa's heart sink. She had a sense of foreboding that everything may be far from what she had thought and what her father had told her. Tessa immediately took out her phone and dialed Hana's number. She wanted to call Hana and personally ask her what happened back then when Tessa was still in her childhood. She wanted Hana to tell her with her own words. If Hana dared to say anything wrong, then Tessa certainly would not spare that woman!

Tessa's call went through, but it just simply was not answered. Hana surprisingly did not pick up the call! Tessa was truly exasperated! She continued calling! Hana still did not answer. Tessa called again, and that phone on the other line was actually

One on the other line was actually turned off. Not only did Hana not pick up Tessa's call, but she even turned off her phone? At that moment, Tessa was truly defeated. She knew Hana was together with Zayn. She also could not be bothered that she was the one who dumped Zayn in public the day before anymore. She dialed Zayn's number without the slightest hesitation.

On the other end of the line, Zayn, who was driving, looked at the incoming call on his phone and said to Hana, "You didn't pick up your phone, so she is calling me."

Hana said, "Just hang up the call, Zayn. She is not lacking in food or clothing. From now on, her life has nothing to do with us anymore."

However, Zayn shook his head instead. "It's better to pick up and see what she has to say. If she starts cursing again, then you just directly hang up the call and we will not pick up her calls in the future anymore."

Only then did Hana pick up the call. "Tessa, what's the matter?"

On the other end of the line, Tessa said

Tessa, what's the matter?"

On the other end of the line, Tessa said very arrogantly, "I am going to ask you something and you have to answer me honestly! Did you get involved with a seventy-year-old man?"

Hana's expression suddenly changed. "Tessa Caven, my last name is Sharpe and yours is Caven! I can sever our mother-daughter relationship! You have already slapped and cursed me! From now on, the ties between us for being mother and daughter are completely severed! You're asking me like this again now. Do you think I won't kill you?" Hana's tone was very cold. Extremely cold. If Hana was destined to kill her daughter with her own hands and then go to hell, then such was her fate.

On the other end of the line, Tessa shuddered as she heard Hana. She stuttered as she was slightly in the wrong. "I...I was just asking. What are you annoyed at?"

Hana replied with only two words, "Get lost!" She then hung up the call.

Zayn raised his hand to comfort Hana. "Don't pick up her call again in the future. Block her number."

Zayn was not a heartless man. If Hana was willing to acknowledge her daughter, then Zayn was even willing to give a

However, seeing that Tessa had treated his wife like this, Zayn was truly disappointed. Hana blocked Tessa's number without even taking a moment to think. Hana was only forty years old. She still had a future in her life. Surely, she could not just stop living because her daughter degraded her. As a mother, Hana had already completely exhausted all her efforts on things that she could do and should do. From then on, she wanted to live for herself.

That afternoon when Hana and Zayn came to the city hall, there was only half an hour left on the clock before it would be closed. The moment they got their marriage certificate, both of them were elated. They hugged each other tightly and both of them were reluctant to let each other go.

"Zayn, I'll have a husband from now on? Am I...married?" Hana had never gotten married in her life before this. She had never worn a wedding dress. At that moment, she was in a daze.

moment, she was in a daze.

Zayn teared up. "Hana, I...have a wife now? From now on, I will no longer be alone when I return home, and I will have someone to discuss with before doing anything?"

Hana smiled. "Mm-hmm! From now on, we will go through thick and thin together!"

"Let's go!" said Zayn.

"What are we doing?"

"The two of us have to celebrate our marriage together this afternoon. After we're done celebrating, I'll take you to buy some wedding gifts. You have clothes to wear. We'll use the entire afternoon today to completely fill the closet with clothes. I have a walk-in closet at home and I don't have many clothes. It's all yours from now on. Let's bring your Aunt Cecilia over to stay together with us."

"Mm-hmm!" Hana teared up.

That noon, they had lunch together, just the two of them. That was the lunch to celebrate their marriage. Nobody gave them their best wishes, so they gave each other their best wishes. Both of them felt celebrate their marriage. Nobody gave

● them their best wishes, so they gave each other their best wishes. Both of them felt an incomparably warm and fuzzy feeling.

Zayn brought Hana to the mall to purchase all sorts of clothes, makeup products, shoes and so on. He had a good eye so all the clothes he picked for Hana suited her well. Hana had repeatedly refused Zayn's offer because she felt it was too wasteful. She had been earning money her whole life but she had never even gotten more than a hundred pieces of clothes for herself. When she stood in front of the mirror in the fitting room and tried on all the clothes one by one, Hana felt like the person in the mirror was not herself. That woman in the mirror was too beautiful. She had a beauty that had a kind of sentimental quality, maturity, and purity. That purity in her gaze had a kind of temperament that was a combination of firmness and gentleness.

Hana looked at herself and smiled. Zayn slowly walked forward from behind her, wrapped an arm around her. "Hana, you are truly beautiful."

Hana blushed. "Zayn, we're at the mall."

"Mm-hmm."

"Will he also love me?"

"Hana..." Zayn said. His voice was deep and husky. At that moment, both of them had completely forgotten that just that morning, they were still discussing the matter of whether he could not have intercourse with someone. At that moment, they had completely been carried away. Zayn, in particular, felt a desire that he had never felt before. He raised his hand and locked the fitting room from inside. The woman in front of him was too beautiful. It was the woman that he had been dreaming of.

"Hana, are you scared?" he asked with a deep voice.

Hana's voice became increasingly softer.

"Zayn, I truly am scared. Will there be someone here..."

"Don't worry. Come here and let me take care of the rest," said Zayn gently.

"Alright." Hana knew that people certainly would be looking at her when

That afternoon, Hana and Zayn completed a perfect consummation in that VIP fitting room. Both of them had gotten an unparalleled pleasure from it. He felt ecstatic as he hugged her. "Hana, although...I can't have kids, but I can give you pleasure. I can still pleasure you, Hana, is that alright?"

"Mm-hmm. Zayn, you are truly manly. You're a real man, Zayn!" Hana was also incredibly happy. She then became more shy. She hid in Zayn's embrace and was not willing to get out of it. "We...how are you going to get out of here?" said Hana, looking at the messy room. ①

Zayn laughed. "You're already a forty-year-old person, and yet, you're still shy."

“Please come again, Mister and Missus Smith.”

Missus Smith. This title warmed Hana’s heart tremendously. She could not help but hold on to Zayn’s arm. The two of them looked like just a couple who were madly in love.

After putting numerous bags of clothes into the trunk, Zayn asked Hana, “Hana, does it hurt?”

Hana got a little shy. “Zayn, you know that I am a woman who had given birth. How am I that delicate? It doesn’t hurt.”

“How about walking? Does your body feel tired?” Zayn asked with concern again. He was a man, so his body would be fine and there would not be any problems at all. He would be more refreshed instead. H

Zayn shook his head. "We will never be meeting Tessa again in the future."

Hana leaned on his shoulder. "Mm-hmm."

Zayn started the car, and after half an hour, the car was stopped. Hana was completely astonished when she saw such a high-end neighborhood before her eyes. Zayn held her hand and led her into the elevator. They rode the elevator up, and then knocked on the door.
